

The background of the cover is a detailed, artistic illustration of a cell. It features a large, irregular, greyish-brown structure that resembles a cell membrane or a large organelle. Inside and around this structure are various colored spheres: green, red, and blue. The green spheres are of different sizes and some have internal patterns. The red sphere is a large, textured sphere. The blue spheres are smaller and have a blueish-white center. The overall background is black, and there are many small white dots scattered throughout, giving it a microscopic or cosmic feel.
