Social Transformation in Bangladesh Shahidur Rahman, Md. Masud-All-Kamal, 2024-08-26 Social Transformation in Bangladesh explores the social political and cultural implications of the unprecedented economic development that has occurred in Bangladesh since its independence in 1971 In the 1970s Bangladesh was labelled an international basket case because of food insecurity and low levels of per capita income with high population growth and various social problems Defying overwhelming odds however a societal transformation is underway in Bangladesh with diverse opportunities and challenges This edited book analyses issues of inclusivity extractivism sustainability and equitability as it takes a look at the interconnected metamorphosis of the economy society culture and the environment of Bangladesh Discussing topics from the products of post industrial society such as YouTube sensations and digital labour platforms to groups that have suffered marginalisation for decades such as the urban poor and Indigenous peoples a wide array of scholarship and case studies are used to analyse the challenges and opportunities offered by the process of societal transformation With insights from multidisciplinary scholars this collection will be of great interest to those specialising in the fields of sociology political science anthropology development refugee and migrant studies media studies labour studies health and indigeneity

COVID-19: Food System Frailties and Opportunities
Claire Kremen, Elliot Berry, Rachel Bezner Kerr, Patrick Meyfroidt, Ivette Perfecto, Todd Rosenstock, José Antonio Teixeira, Hannah Wittman, 2023-11-21 The global coronavirus pandemic is revealing major weaknesses inequities and system wide risks in global food systems giving renewed urgency to foster pathways to greater food system sustainability and resilience Due to rising unemployment supply chain disruptions and other responses to the pandemic such as disruptions to social assistance programs in some countries predictions suggest a near doubling of food insecurity globally Nutritional changes are also occurring as food availability and access changes leading to substitution of dry canned or processed foods for healthier fresh ingredients for some communities and the reverse for others These food security and nutritional changes are likely to be as impactful on human health as the virus itself As a system wide shock the pandemic reveals weaknesses of global supply chains The media highlighted empty supermarket shelves alongside food dumping in situations where producers locked into disappearing food service outlets were unable to access new markets Farmers with long standing reliance on migrant agricultural labor that can no longer travel across international borders under lockdown struggle to access support for the upcoming harvest season The pandemic highlights well known inequities for marginalized food systems employees as essential workers are exposed to greater risks of contracting the virus in food processing agricultural and grocery store settings but have little choice in accepting these conditions in order to keep these low paying jobs The pandemic reinforces another well known food system inequity marginalized and impoverished minorities often suffer from diet related diseases i e cardiovascular diseases diabetes and or malnutrition that place them at greater risk of morbidity and mortality from the coronavirus Lockdowns and border closures are reducing economic opportunities such as day labor and agricultural markets in some regions such as much of Africa ensuing risks of food and nutrition insecurity for vast segments of the population threaten to set back development increase social conflict and catalyze migration Finally the current pandemic shines a spotlight on the systemic risk of infectious diseases to emerge and become globalized through local bushmeat markets and international wildlife trade and how wildlife hunting and trade is influenced by land use changes including by industrial agriculture At the same time adaptive responses to the coronavirus illustrate how more resilient and sustainable food systems could evolve going forward To avoid supply chain disruptions communities are increasing their reliance on local food systems including an increase in urban gardening and community supported agriculture programs Small scale farmers are innovating to connect with buyers and with each other including through new online marketing initiatives Entrepreneurs are identifying foods that would otherwise be wasted and directing them to food banks Retailers and wholesalers are re configuring their distribution networks to shift food to where it is needed most Food pantries local producers and food businesses are also collaborating with municipal governments to address food security gaps arising from COVID 19 impacts
