Handbook of Personalized Learning Matthew L. Bernacki, Candace Walkington, Alyssa Emery, Ling Zhang, 2025-11-27
The Handbook of Personalized Learning offers a theoretically grounded conceptualization for the development and implementation of personalizing learning. This comprehensive volume addresses personalized learning's roots in educational, cognitive, and social psychological studies of learning as well as in practice. Positioned to shape the future of personalized learning, this handbook documents past innovations achieved in educational technology research and development, considers how advancements in learning analytics and machine learning have influenced policy and implementation, and showcases current and future applications of personalized learning in diverse K-12 classrooms, higher education, and informal educational settings. The book's varied rigorous contributions are informed by an overarching model of personalized learning that centers the assets individuals bring to learning opportunities, including their prior knowledge, interests, self-beliefs, autonomy, and identity, and whose responsive designs build on those assets to improve learning and attainment. Researchers, developers, teaching faculty, and graduate students across educational psychology, educational technology, the learning sciences, learning analytics, human-computer interaction, and beyond will come away with substantive foundations and cutting-edge exemplars of the ways in which designs can be personalized to promote learners' experiences in educational settings.

Information Access in the Era of Generative AI Ryen W. White, Chirag Shah, 2024-12-24
Generative Artificial Intelligence (GenAI) has emerged as a groundbreaking technology that promises to revolutionize many industries as well as people's personal and professional lives. This book discusses GenAI and its role in information access, often referred to as Generative Information Retrieval (GenIR) or more broadly, information interaction. The role of GenAI in information access is complex and dynamic, with many dimensions. To address this, following a brief introduction to GenAI and GenIR, the remainder of the book provides eight chapters, each targeting a different dimension or sub-topic. These cover foundations of GenIR, interactions with GenIR systems, adapting them to users' tasks and scenarios, improving them based on user feedback, GenIR evaluation, the sociotechnical implications of GenAI for information access, recommendations within GenIR, and the future of information access with GenIR. The book is targeted at graduate students and researchers interested in issues of information retrieval, access, and interactions, as well as applications of GenAI in various informational contexts. While some of the parts assume prior background in IR or AI, most others do not, making this book suitable for adoption in various classes as a primary source or as a supplementary material.

Critical AI in K-12 Classrooms

Stephanie Smith Budhai, Marie K. Heath, 2025-09-08. A practical guide for teachers and students navigating the complicated intersection of artificial intelligence, education, and justice. Artificial intelligence is rapidly integrating into today's classrooms, but unlike other new technologies, AI has the potential to harm, making it difficult to take advantage of its benefits. In Critical AI in K-12 Classrooms, Stephanie Smith Budhai and Marie K. Heath draw attention to the biases embedded within AI algorithms, such as those powering OpenAI's ChatGPT and DALL-E, to guide students and teachers in developing strategies to best incorporate AI or not into equitable learning. AI's reliance on existing data and knowledge systems means Black, queer, those with disabilities, and other marginalized students are at greater risk of being harmed by built-in limitations and bias. Budhai and Heath show how to circumvent, if not actively resist, such harms as machine learning, NLPs, LLMs, and GenAI enter the classroom, with practical examples rooted in culturally sustaining, abolitionist, and fugitive pedagogies across disciplines. Their practical guide creatively answers the concerns of educators committed to forward thinking, yet fair instruction, and the needs of students eager to use AI for just ends. Critical AI in K-12 Classrooms meets the challenges of a key STEM technology with an eye toward cultivating a more just world. Balancing responsible learning with the joy of discovery, Budhai and Heath build a framework for AI instruction that all educators can confidently use.

Teach Like a Human

David J. Mulder, 2025-09-18. Are the machines taking over? Artificial intelligence suddenly seems to be everywhere, including in the world of education. With new AI-powered tools popping up every day, it's no wonder that educators might feel overwhelmed. How can we navigate the strange new world of AI without losing our humanity or our sense of humor? Blending thoughtful theology, practical wisdom, and a deep love for teaching, this book invites educators to reflect on big questions: What does it mean to be a real human in an age of artificial intelligence? What tools should we adopt, and which ones should we avoid, and how can we decide? How do we stay grounded in the gospel story while adapting to emerging technologies? Rather than offering easy answers or alarmist warnings, let's consider an approach that is curious and courageous: developing a hopeful vision for education that forms both minds and hearts. Standing on the truth of Scripture and keeping a finger on the tech pulse, this book helps Christian educators practice thinking faithfully, acting ethically, and teaching joyfully, even when algorithms are everywhere. Teaching Christianly with technology isn't about keeping up with the latest tools and trends; it's about being the humans God created us to be.
