Lee, 2022-09-27 This qualitative study explores intercultural social dynamics among international Christian workers who are part of multicultural teams engaged in Christian ministries in a North African country It seeks to understand these workers lived realities at intersections of multiple cultural flows Ethnographic methods were used to collect and analyze data and forty nine international Christian workers were interviewed The findings of this study indicate that intercultural Christian workers go through complex intercultural social processes interwoven in the fabric of their everyday life These processes are mediated by their social experiences in the local North African context and their multicultural teams resulting in significant changes in their personal dispositions and social behaviors Based on these findings a working concept of diasporic habitus is developed and the practice of double discourses of culture is further examined This research suggests that some existing missiological concepts need to be revisited and recommends further interdisciplinary conversations involving cultural anthropology and sub fields in psychology about the changes that happen to people in intercultural missions It also calls for a reflexive approach to missiological research that incorporates awareness of one's situatedness and the lasting impact of historical entanglements on contemporary intercultural relations The Social Psychology of Ethnic Identity Maykel Verkuyten, 2004-12 In contrast to other disciplines social psychology has been slow in responding to the questions posed by the issue of ethnicity The Social Psychology of Ethnic Identity demonstrates the important contribution that psychology can make The central aim of this book is to show on the one hand that social psychology can be used to develop a better understanding of ethnicity and on the other hand that increased attention to ethnicity can benefit social psychology filling in theoretical and empirical gaps Based on recent research The Social Psychology of Ethnic Identity brings an original approach to subjects such as ethnic minority identity place space and time hyphenated identities and hybridity self descriptions and the ethnic self The combination of diverse approaches to this burgeoning field will be of interest to
