

CHAPTER 1

INTRODUCTION TO COST MANAGEMENT

QUESTIONS FOR WRITING AND DISCUSSION

1. A cost management system is primarily concerned with producing outputs for internal information users, using inputs and processes needed to satisfy management objectives. A cost management system is not bound by externally imposed criteria that define inputs and processes. Instead, the criteria that govern the inputs and processes are set by people within the company. A financial accounting system is primarily concerned with producing information for the company's external information users. Cost management differs from financial accounting in the following major ways: (1) an internal focus, (2) an emphasis on the future, (3) freedom from GAAP and other mandatory rules, (4) a multidisciplinary scope, (5) an evaluation of individual segments within the firm, and (6) the provision of more detailed information.
2. The three broad objectives of a cost management information system are (1) to cost out products, services, and other cost objects; (2) to provide information for planning and control; and (3) to provide information for decision making.
3. The cost accounting system is a cost management subsystem designed to assign costs to products, services, and other objects as management needs specify. The operational control system is a cost management subsystem designed to provide accurate and timely feedback concerning the performance of managers and others relative to their planning and control of activities.
4. Factors affecting the focus and practice of cost management are global competition, service industry growth, advances in information technology, advances in the manufacturing environment, customer orientation, new product development, total quality management, time as a competitive factor, and efficiency. Global competition means that companies are now competing with the best of the best. Accurate, timely, and relevant accounting data are crucial in appropriately managing costs. Service industry growth has led to the need for increased management accounting information to improve productivity and quality. The advances in information technology have led to the creation of integrated relational databases that allow a variety of users to develop their own reports based on their particular needs.
- It has also fostered the implementation and use of more sophisticated accounting systems such as activity-based costing, Customer orientation, new product development, total quality management, time as a competitive factor, and efficiency require the accountant to create and track financial and nonfinancial measures of customer satisfaction, quality improvement, responsiveness, cycle time, target costs, cost, and productivity. Advances in the manufacturing environment are characterized by practices such as the theory of constraints, just-in-time, and automation. These changes are affecting such practices as inventory management and product costing.
5. Planning establishes performance standards, feedback compares actual performance with planned performance, and control uses feedback to evaluate deviations from plans.
6. Cost management has the role of providing information to help identify opportunities for improvement and also provides an evaluation of the progress made in implementing the actions designed to create improvement.
7. Performance reports compare actual costs and revenues with planned costs and revenues and thus provide signals to managers to identify weak areas and to take corrective actions.
8. Business ethics is concerned with making the right choices and usually involves sacrificing individual self-interest for the well-being of others. It is possible to teach ethical behavior in virtually any course. By introducing ethical dilemmas in management accounting, students can become aware of the behavior that is expected in the business world and, in particular, for management accountants.
