Contrastive Analysis And Error:

Questions and Answers on Contrastive Analysis & Error Analysis Muḥammad Z̤iyā' Ḥusaynī, 2006 Contrastive Analysis vs. Error Analysis in Respect of their Treatment of the Avoidance Phenomenon Elena Gluth, 2020-04-06 Seminar paper from the year 2003 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 1 5 Free University of Berlin Institut für Englische Philologie language English abstract This research paper compares contrastive analysis with the error analysis approach in respect of their treatment of avoidance behaviour. It considers several researches on avoidance behaviour and shows that contrastive analysis predicts the avoidance phenomenon in most cases and therefore gives a complete description of the areas of difficulty for learners of a second language. There exist two different approaches for the identification of possible learning problems in the second language acquisition: contrastive analysis and error analysis. A number of proponents of an error analysis approach claim that contrastive analysis cannot serve as an adequate tool for identifying the areas of difficulty for learners of a second language. But on the other hand, it has been noticed that error analysis is not able to explain the avoidance phenomenon since error analysis registers only the errors done by learners of a second language. Avoidance behaviour represents a communicative strategy of a learner of a second language by which the learner prefers using a simpler form instead of the target linguistic element for the reason of difficulty on the part of the target feature. Consequently, avoidance behaviour serves as a manifestation of learning problems and its results should be definitely considered when compiling language syllabi and tests.

A number of proponents of an error analysis approach claim that contrastive analysis cannot serve as an adequate tool for identifying the areas of difficulty for learners of a second language. But on the other hand, it has been noticed that error analysis is not able to explain the avoidance phenomenon since error analysis registers only the errors done by learners of a second language. Schachter 1974 Avoidance behaviour represents a communicative strategy of a learner of a second language by which the learner prefers using a simpler form instead of the target linguistic element for the reason of difficulty on the part of the target feature. Consequently, avoidance behaviour serves as a manifestation of learning problems and its results should be definitely considered when compiling language syllabi and tests. Laufer and Eliasson 1993 And since error analysis does not consider and is not able to explain the avoidance phenomenon, it cannot be observed as an adequate approach for assisting teachers of a second language with learning materials. In this paper, we set a goal to compare contrastive analysis with the error analysis approach in respect of their treatment of avoidance behaviour We will consider several researches on avoidance behaviour and will show that contrastive analysis does predict the avoidance phenomenon in most cases and therefore gives a complete description of the areas of difficulty for learners of a second language We suppose that we can come across the cases in which the avoidance phenomenon would not manifest itself although it has been predicted by contr

An Introduction to the Concept of Error Analysis Robert Wetzorke, 2010
Seminar paper from the year 2005 in the subject English Pedagogy Didactics Literature Studies grade 1.3 Technical University of Braunschweig Englisches Seminar language English abstract Foreign Language Pedagogy FLP in general aims to convey to teachers the essential information about the role of the learner and the teacher in the process of language learning and also provides them with theoretical didactic methods and practical means for the foreign language classroom FLC We can even go a step further by claiming that the mission of FLP is to research for and establish the supreme way of a teaching a foreign language FL to the learners However within this field of research it becomes quite obvious that the learners take in a rather passive role and do not contribute very much to new research data and hence new approaches towards foreign language teaching FLT This thesis can be held true to give just one example when we consider the various teaching methods for the FLC Although the role of the learner is taken into account in each method the learners are fairly more than testing objects of teaching models hypothesized by didactic scientists On the other hand one must admit that in correspondence with the recent emergence and establishment of the communicative approach CA the learners preferences and demands have been taken far more into consideration and their linguistic and communicative performance serve as source for methodological research input and constructive teacher strategies oriented as well as learner strategies oriented output offered by science Recently and paradoxically enough it can be perceived intensive discussion concerning the question how to deal best with errors produced by learners More precisely there has been a shift from the formerly applied Contrastive Analysis CAH toward the occupation with Error Analysis EA Errata Jan Svartvik, 1973 Bidrag til Symposium on Error Analysis held in Lund 26 27 September 1972 A Contrastive Analysis of Persian & English and Error Analysis Muḥammad Ziyā' Husaynī, 2004 Error Analysis in SLA. An Investigation of Errors made by Polish Learners of English Tom Keller, 2016-04-13 Seminar paper from the year 2010 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Linguistics grade 3 0 Technical University of Braunschweig Englisches Seminar course Second Language Acquisition language English abstract In this paper I will investigate several language productions from Polish learners using the English language and try to uncover their errors Using Error Analysis I will describe and explain the reasons for the error production An interesting question will be whether the Polish speakers may have typical errors which could be related to their native language Due to the numerous kinds of errors it will be necessary to classify them and to relate them to certain reasons Furthermore there exists a difference between an error and a mistake Its importance will be discussed later on Even though Error Analysis initially offers helpful opportunities to investigate error production in a structured way it has several disadvantages which were criticized in past decades In the end the conclusion will give an overview of the contents and summary the handled topics During the last several decades linguists have investigated the way of acquiring a second language Learners have several ways of acquiring a language and the field of second language acquisition SLA tries to uncover and improve them When people try to learn a foreign language they produce a considerable amount of errors These errors have always been made in the learning process and will never cease to occur During the complex investigations of second language acquisition linguists have focused on Error Analysis EA with its aim to take a deeper look on learner production Around the late 60 s this particular analysis was established with an approach of Pit Corder This system shows that errors should be investigated to understand and also improve the linguists attempts of learning a second language Typical questions which arise are why learners make errors and what reasons do they have Before Pit Corder linguists used the Contrastive Analysis CA which examines certain errors and refers to a particular connection between the first and the second language The differences between these two types of analysis will be examined in detail in the following chapter Several steps are needed to analyze various errors in language Investigators have developed procedures to collect identify describe explain and lastly evaluate certain errors These certain steps will be described and underlined with certain examples

Error Analysis in New Language Acquisition Andrea Letzel,2016-11-17 Studienarbeit aus dem Jahr 2010 im Fachbereich Anglistik Linguistik Note 1 3 Johannes Gutenberg Universit t Mainz Sprache Deutsch Abstract Error Analysis used in second language analysis studies the errors learners make in speech and writing It also studies the different types of errors and why they were made In this term paper two different types of learners will be considered who perform spontaneously with the help of a picture story There will be a special focus on the differences and similarities of their errors There are various possibilities how samples of learner language can be influenced Firstly the learner and his proficiency level have to be described and it is important if he speaks or learns other languages irrespective of the MT and the target language that is considered in the analysis The way of instruction plays also an important role because instructed language learning provides a different error background as if the learner tries to learn the language naturalistically The second part that has to be described is the language itself The medium can either be oral or written Generally the oral production consist of a more colloquial English for the simple reason that the learner has not as much time to think about formulation than in written speech Therefore the Genre and the content of the language production is Error Evaluation and Error correction are additional parts that have not to be included in every Error Analysis According to the dictionary of Linguistics the error analysis is subdivided and classified in modality levels of linguistic description form type and cause
