Primer to Neuromorphic Computing Harish Garg, Jyotir Moy Chatterjee, R Sujatha, Shatrughan Modi, 2024-11-09 Primer to Neuromorphic Computing highlights critical and ongoing research into the diverse applications of neuromorphic computing. It includes an overview of primary scientific concepts for the research topic of neuromorphic computing such as neurons as computational units, artificial intelligence, machine learning, and neuromorphic models. It also discusses the fundamental design method and organization of neuromorphic architecture. Hardware for neuromorphic systems can be developed by exploiting the magnetic properties of different materials. These systems are more energy efficient and enable faster computation. Magnetic tunnel junctions and magnetic textures can be employed to act as neurons and synapses. Neuromorphic systems have general intelligence like humans as they can apply knowledge gained in one domain to other domains. Discusses potential neuromorphic applications in computing. Presents current trends and models in neuromorphic computing and neural network hardware architectures. Shows the development of novel devices and hardware to enable neuromorphic computing. Offers information about computation and learning principles for neuromorphic systems. Provides information about Neuromorphic implementations of neurobiological learning algorithms. Discusses biologically inspired neuromorphic systems and devices including adaptive bio interfacing and hybrid systems consisting of living matter and synthetic matter.

Interpolatory Methods for Model Reduction A. C. Antoulas, C. A. Beattie, S. Güçer, 2020-01-13 Dynamical systems are a principal tool in the modeling, prediction, and control of a wide range of complex phenomena. As the need for improved accuracy leads to larger and more complex dynamical systems, direct simulation often becomes the only available strategy for accurate prediction or control, inevitably creating a considerable burden on computational resources. This is the main context where one considers model reduction, seeking to replace large systems of coupled differential and algebraic equations that constitute high-fidelity system models with substantially fewer equations that are crafted to control the loss of fidelity that order reduction may induce in the system response. Interpolatory methods are among the most widely used model reduction techniques, and Interpolatory Methods for Model Reduction is the first comprehensive analysis of this approach available in a single extensive resource. It introduces state-of-the-art methods reflecting significant developments over the past two decades, covering both classical projection frameworks for model reduction and data-driven nonintrusive frameworks. This textbook is appropriate for a wide audience of engineers and other scientists working in the general areas of large scale dynamical systems and data driven modeling of dynamics
