Deuteronomic History Terence E. Fretheim,1983 We would be naive to think that we can hear these narratives with the same clarity that the first hearers did An equal naivete however would be to suggest that we have no access to their situation or that it is irrelevant to know how the texts originally functioned One way to proceed is to juxtapose narratives with issues faced by the people of God in the context to which the narratives were addressed To lay contextual issues alongside narrative should enable illumination of the text and give breadth and depth to the results of one's interpretation This approach has the advantage of avoiding an abstract concern about what the author might have intended Rather in the juxtaposition of context and text we are concerned about what issues faced by the audience might have been addressed Although the Word of God is always addressed to a particular situation the insights gained through hearing it will assist in the hearing of a Word in the contemporary situation excerpts from the Introduction by Terence E Fretheim Australian Politics Owen E.
