Talking about Food Sofia Rüdiger, Susanne Mühleisen, 2020-06-15 All humans eat and all humans speak activities which in social life often but not always co occur We talk while eating and drinking with others but food is also a prominent literal and metaphorical discursive topic which contributes to establishing communities and identities This omnipresence of eating and drinking in our daily lives has led to a public fascination with foodways The contributions in this edited collection investigate the connection between language and food from a variety of perspectives As food discourses operate on local global and mediated levels they are intertwined with notions of identity and culture and thus shed light on intimate understandings of ourselves as human beings Talking about Food The Social and the Global in Eating Communities provides up to date and thought provoking contributions to the linguistics of food The book is essential reading for anyone interested in food related subjects

Literature and the Rise of the Interview Rebecca Roach, 2018-11-21 Today interviews proliferate everywhere in newspapers on television and in anthologies as a method they are a major tool of medicine the law the social sciences oral history projects and journalism and in the book trade interviews with authors are a major promotional device We live in an interview society How did this happen What is it about the interview form that we find so appealing and horrifying Are we all just gossips or is there something more to it What are the implications of our reliance on this bizarre dynamic for publicity subjectivity and democracy Literature and the Rise of the Interview addresses these questions from the perspective of literary culture The book traces the ways in which the interview form has been conceived and deployed by writers and interviewing has been understood as a literary critical practice It excavates what we might call a poetics of the interview form and practice In so doing it covers 150 years and four continents It includes a diverse rostrum of well known writers such as Henry James T S Eliot Ezra Pound Djuna Barnes William Burroughs Philip Roth J M Coetzee and Toni Morrison while reintroducing some individuals that history has forgotten such as Betty Ross Queen of Interviewers and Julian Hawthorne Nathaniel s profligate son Together these stories expose the interview s position in the literary imagination and consider what this might tell us about conceptions of literature authorship and reading communities in modernity

The De Gruyter Handbook of Robots in Society and Culture Leopoldina Fortunati, Autumn Edwards, 2024-09-23 The De Gruyter Handbook of Robots in Society and Culture provides a comprehensive discussion of how social robots take form function and meaning for individuals relationships cultures and societies Through a path breaking integration of perspectives coming from sociology communication and media psychology cognitive neuroscience anthropology political science and science and technology studies it focuses on the critical and social meaning of present developments in social robotic technologies This book looks at artificial agents from voice based assistants to humanoid robots as their use transforms private and public contexts and gives rise to both new possibilities and new perils for human being and becoming organizations as well as social structures and institutions The handbook traces the consequences and key problems of social robotics across broad social contexts in both public and political as well as domestic and intimate spaces Further it attends carefully to the implications of social robotics for various human identity groups including those based on gender ethnicity culture class ability and age Deep attention to interdisciplinarity inclusivity ethics and socio cultural futures serves as the guiding inspiration behind each contribution within this handbook
