

Fig. 1. Princess style dress pattern, a possible substitute for a regulation French lining pattern.

lining pattern, a regular princess-style dress pattern is a possible substitute (see Figure 1). If you use a pattern of this type, several modifications will be necessary. First, rule the center front line marked on the center front panel and cut off the extension for the lap and lapel. Then alter the dress front slightly for a basic neckline, and cut it off to a 36-inch bodice. Finally, draw the panel lines from the largest hip measurement down absolutely vertically rather than outward on a slant, since a form cover must fit skin-tight all the way to the lower edge.

THE PATTERN SIZE

Because the form cover must be skin tight, buy your pattern one size smaller than the dress size you normally wear, or in the smallest size that will fit the bust. Then, if necessary, add to the seams below the waist to let out the hips. This requires much less alteration than would be necessary to fit out excess above the waistline. Fully half of the college students find their proportions from shoulder to waist somewhat smaller than from waist to hip. By using the smaller pattern size and letting out the seams from waist to hip, you will have to make very little adjustment in the fitting.

For class use, the instructor will find that it is time to make up in advance muslin French lining samples of all pattern sizes (12, 14, 16, 18, 20, 22) which student can then try them on and select the one which fits her best above the waist.¹

Fig. 2. Checking pattern size by trying on a muslin cover sample.
