How and why do works make their way into a public art collection Who decides what will be hung on the walls placed on plinths displayed in cases These important but seldom discussed questions lie at the heart of this cultural biography of the 70 years during which the Robert McDougall Art Gallery was Christchurch s civic art gallery The book explains how the collection came together how it developed and how the public and artists and critics reacted to it The book is presented in three parts each of which has its own introduction It provides an analytical framework in detail and in context by defining terms and explaining particular recurrent concepts These include and indeed highlight selection and presentation cultures derived from the core museological functions of collection and display These together with the framework s other concepts are related to mainstream methodology in the social sciences particularly political science The latter is especially relevant to the study of a public art gallery owned and funded by the public and its elected representatives and controlled by these representatives and their appointed agents Furthermore the framework explores the concept of post colonial tensions between heritages specifically indigenous transplanted and autochthonous ones The significance of this becomes more apparent when the concepts used in relevant previous studies of specific public art galleries in New Zealand are reviewed There is also a strong emphasis on the development of a public Maori art collection It is a story too of vivid and influential personalities the directors and curators who fought for the gallery and the artists represented in it But the book is more than just the story of a single gallery s collection it shines a light on concerns and patterns that will be familiar to galleries everywhere and provides a unique perspective on New Zealand s cultural development over much of the twentieth century

,1973-07 The Architecture of the Illusive Distance Amir H. Ameri,2016-03-03 Focusing on three secular institutional building types libraries museums and cinemas this book explores the intricate interplay between culture and architecture It explores the cultural imperatives which have seen to the formation of these institutions the development of their architecture and their transformation over time The relationship between culture and architecture is often perceived as a monologic relationship Architecture is seen to embody represent and or reflect the values the beliefs and the aesthetic ideals of a culture Ameri argues that this is at best a partial and restrictive view and that if architecture is a cultural statement it is a performative one It does not merely represent culture but constructs reifies and imposes culture as the unalterable shape of reality Whereas the concept and the study of cultural performatives have had an important critical impact on the humanities architecture as a cultural performative has not received the necessary scholarly attention and in part this book aims to fill this gap Whereas building type studies have been largely restricted to elucidating how best to design building types based on historic and contemporary precedents studies in the humanities that analytically and critically engage the secular institutions and their history as cultural performatives typically cast a blind or perfunctory glance at the performative complicity of their architecture This book aims to address the omissions in both these approaches The library the museum and the movie theater have been selected for close critical study because this book argues each has been instituted to house domesticate and restrain a specific form of representation The aim has been to protect and promulgate the metaphysics of presence as Jacques Derrida expounds the concept This book proposes that it is against the dangers of unconstrained cohabitation of reality and representation that the library the m The Library World ,1927 The Architect ,1871 The Library Assistant ,1907 Vols 1 18 34 40 include 4th 30th 45th 51st 1898 99 1924 25 1940 46 reports of the Association of Assistant Librarians Vols 19 33 have 31st 44th 1925 26 1939 reports as separately paged appendices or supplements Library Literature H.W.
