Representations of Ciudad Juárez and Femicide in Two Novels Maria Concepción Romero, 2007

The Daughters of Juarez Teresa Rodriguez, Diana Montané, 2007-03-27 A veteran award winning journalist and a former New York Times correspondent and true crime writer team up to create the first major nonfiction work based on the ongoing international phenomenon of over 300 confirmed female homicides and hundreds more missing in the bordertown of Juarez Mexico Despite the fact that Juarez is a Mexican border city just across the Rio Grande from El Paso Texas most Americans are unaware that for decades this city has been the center of an epidemic of horrific crimes against women and girls consisting of kidnappings rape mutilation and murder with most of the victims conforming to a specific profile young slender and poor fueling the premise that the murders are not random While some leading members of the American media have reported on the situation prompting the U S government to send in top criminal profilers from the FBI little real information about this international atrocity has emerged According to Amnesty International as of 2006 more than 400 bodies have been recovered with hundreds still missing As for who is behind the murders themselves the answer remains unknown although many have argued that the killings have become a sort of blood sport due to the lawlessness of the city itself Among the theories being considered are illegal trafficking in human organs ritualistic satanic sacrifices copycat killers and a conspiracy between members of the powerful Ju rez drug cartel and some corrupt Mexican officials who have turned a blind eye to the felonies all the while lining their pockets with money drenched in blood The Daughters of Ju rez is an eye opening authoritative nonfiction work that unflinchingly examines the brutal killings and draws attention to these atrocities on the border The end result will shock readers and become required reading on the subject for years to come The Scholar, 2004 Cinematographic and Literary Representations of the Femicides in Ciudad Juarez Olimpia Arellano-neri, 2013 In the border city of Ciudad Juarez from 1993 to 2008 around 450 women the exact number is unknown were brutally murdered or simply disappeared in mysterious circumstances Although the femicides have not stopped as of yet the various patterns that characterized the femicides during this period have recently been overshadowed by a different type of murder which involves both men and women and which seems to occur during the daylight and in more public places The large number of femicides has attracted international attention from groups ranging from human rights associations to individual authors working in different literary genres The femicides and all the social conflicts that have been linked to them have yielded a vast production of literary and cinematographic pieces which attempt to represent the murders and the circumstances under which they took place In this dissertation six documentaries Senorita extraviada 2001 The City of Lost Girls 2003 The City of Dead Women 2005 Bajo Juarez 2006 On the Edge 2006 and Silencio en Juarez 2008 three fiction films Espejo retrovisor 2002 Bordertown 2006 and Traspatio 2009 and three novels Desert Blood 2005 2666 2004 and Las muertas de Ciudad Juarez El caso de Elizabeth Castro Garcia y Abdel Latif Sharif Sharif 1999 are analyzed and compared The ability of writers and filmmakers to use textual aural and visual elements to reproduce the likeness of the reality before them is assessed as well as the strategies employed to compel us to believe that that reality is indeed re presented before us objectively The comparison of the representation of the victims aims to answer two questions whether or not an objective depiction of victims can be achieved without compromising their identity and individual value as human beings and whether or not these femicides can be represented in a way that neither over emphasizes nor ignores the implied violence or the socio political circumstances under which these crimes happened At the same time comparison of the plots serves to answer another key question namely that of the perceived causes of the femicides

Cities and Citizenship at the U.S.-Mexico Border Kathleen Staudt, César M. Fuentes Flores, Julia E. Monárrez Fragoso, 2010-09-15 At the center of the 2 000 mile U S Mexico border a sprawling transnational urban space has mushroomed into a metropolitan region with over two million people whose livelihoods depend on global manufacturing cross border trade and border control jobs Our volume advances knowledge on urban space gender education security and work focusing on Ciudad Juarez the export processing maquiladora manufacturing capital of the Americas and the infamous site of femicide and outlier murder rates connected with arms and drug trafficking Given global economic trends this transnational urban region is a likely paradigmatic future for other world regions Alternative Press Index, 2003

Cultural Representations of Feminicidio at the US-Mexico Border Nuala Finnegan, 2018-07-18 Since the early 1990s the repeated murders of women from Ciudad Juarez Mexico have become something of a global cause c l bre Cultural Representations of Feminicidio at the US Mexico Border examines creative responses to these acts of violence It reveals how theatre art film fiction and other popular cultural forms seek to remember and mourn the female victims of violent death in the city at the same time as they interrogate the political legal and societal structures that produce the crimes Different chapters examine the varying art forms to engage with Ciudad Juarez s feminicidal wave Finnegan discusses lex Rigola s theatrical adaptation of Roberto Bola o s novel 2666 by Teatre Lliure in Barcelona as well as painting about the victims of feminicidio by Irish painter Brian Maguire There is analysis of documentary film about Ciudad Juarez including Lourdes Portillo s acclaimed Se orita Extraviada 2001 The final chapter turns its attention to writing about femicide and examines testimonial and crime fiction narratives like the mystery novel Desert Blood The Juarez Murders by Alicia Gaspar de Alba among other examples By drawing on a range of artistic responses to the murders in Ciudad Juarez Cultural Representations of Feminicidio at the US Mexico Border shows how art film theatre and fiction can unsettle official narratives about the crimes and undo the static paradigms that are frequently used to interpret them Florida Law Review, 2003 Z Magazine, 2005

Violence Against Women and Femicide in Mexico Natalie Panther, 2008

The Femicide Machine Sergio Gonzalez Rodriguez, 2012-01-13 An account and analysis of the systematic murder of women and girls in the Mexican border town of Ciudad Juarez In Ciudad Juarez a territorial power normalized barbarism This anomalous ecology mutated into a femicide machine an apparatus that didn t just create the conditions for the murders of dozens of women and little girls but developed the institutions that guarantee impunity for those crimes and even legalize them A lawless city sponsored by a State in crisis The facts speak for themselves from The Femicide Machine Best known to American readers for his cameo appearances as The Journalist in Roberto Bolaño s 2666 and as a literary detective in Javier Marías s novel Dark Back of Time Sergio González Rodríguez is one of Mexico s most important contemporary writers He is the author of Bones in the Desert the most definitive work on the murders of women and girls in Juarez Mexico as well as The Headless

Man a sharp meditation on the recurrent uses of symbolic violence Infectious a novel and Original Evil a long essay The Femicide Machine is the first book by Gonz lez Rodr guez to appear in English translation Written especially for Semiotext e Intervention series The Femicide Machine synthesizes Gonz lez Rodr guez s documentation of the Ju rez crimes his analysis of the unique urban conditions in which they take place and a discussion of the terror techniques of narco warfare that have spread to both sides of the border The result is a gripping polemic The Femicide Machine probes the anarchic confluence of global capital with corrupt national politics and displaced transient labor and introduces the work of one of Mexico s most eminent writers to American readers Femicide in Ciudad Juarez K.A. Lendek,2003 More or Less Dead Alice Driver,2015-03-26 In Ciudad Ju rez Mexico people disappear their bodies dumped in deserted city lots or jettisoned in the unforgiving desert All too many of them are women More or Less Dead analyzes how such violence against women has been represented in news media books films photography and art Alice Driver argues that the various cultural reports often express anxiety or criticism about how women traverse and inhabit the geography of Ciudad Ju rez and further the idea of the public female body as hypersexualized Rather than searching for justice the various media art photography and even graffiti often reuse victimized bodies in sensationalist attention grabbing ways In order to counteract such views local activists mark the city with graffiti and memorials that create a living memory of the violence and try to humanize the victims of these crimes The phrase more or less dead was coined by Chilean author Roberto Bola o in his novel 2666 a penetrating fictional study of Ju rez Driver explains that victims are more or less dead because their bodies are never found or aren t properly identified leaving families with an uncertainty lasting for decades or forever The author s clear precise journalistic style tackles the ethics of representing feminicide victims in Ciudad Ju rez Making a distinction between the words femicide the murder of girls or women and feminicide murder as a gender driven event one of her interviewees says Women are killed for being women and they are victims of masculine violence because they are women It is a crime of hate against the female gender These are crimes of power Making a Killing Alicia Gaspar de Alba,Georgina Guzmán,2010-11-01 Since 1993 more than five hundred women and girls have been murdered in Ciudad Ju rez across the border from El Paso Texas At least a third have been sexually violated and mutilated as well Thousands more have been reported missing and remain unaccounted for The crimes have been poorly investigated and have gone unpunished and unresolved by Mexican authorities thus creating an epidemic of misogynist violence on an increasingly globalized U S Mexico border This book the first anthology to focus exclusively on the Ju rez femicides as the crimes have come to be known compiles several different scholarly interventions from diverse perspectives including feminism Marxism critical race theory semiotics and textual analysis Editor Alicia Gaspar de Alba shapes a multidisciplinary analytical framework for considering the interconnections between gender violence and the U S Mexico border The essays examine the social and cultural conditions that have led to the heinous victimization of women on the border from globalization free trade agreements exploitative maquiladora working conditions and border politics to the sexist attitudes that pervade the social discourse about the victims The book also explores the evolving social movement that has been created by NGOs mothers organizing efforts and other grassroots forms of activism related to the crimes Contributors include U S and Mexican scholars and activists as well as personal testimonies of two mothers of femicide victims Women's Organizational Response to Gender Violence and Femicide in Ciudad Juárez, Mexico, 2009 The Killing Fields: Harvest of Women Diana Washington Valdez, 2021-06-02 Explosive findings by a journalist s daring investigation into the systematic murders of girls and women in Juarez Mexico Moving Beyond Awareness Sarah Meagan Upton, 2010 Since 1993 over 800 cases of murdered women have been documented in Ciudad Juarez located in the Mexican state of Chihuahua In response to this femicide a social movement called Ni Una M s Not One More emerged holding the creation of awareness as both a main goal and outcome Though a significant process for participants within social movements awareness is absent as a defined concept within social movement literature For the purposes of this thesis awareness will be defined as a cognizant realization of the problem resulting in collective indignation Part of the process of creating collective indignation among those unaffected by the murders is the involvement both activist and non activist actors doing both visible and invisible work to bring attention to them and hopefully elicit an emotional response However even if the goal of collective indignation is met knowledge of a problem does not guarantee one s ability or even desire to take action Translation work must be done to transform awareness into a form of capital that addresses the problem In the case of the femicide in Ciudad Juarez actors in the arts media academic and political realms have used their professional positions to translate awareness into awareness products These awareness products do not work to solve the crimes or prevent future murders However these products do generate further knowledge that moves towards solutions and an element of therapeutic remembrance Still an active movement Ni Una M s continues to advocate for the awareness of victims of femicide a process aided by artistic remembrance academic legitimization and an unprecedented international court ruling
