Case Study Research in Educational Settings Michael Bassey, 1999-05-16 This book offers new insights into the case study as a tool of educational research and suggests how it can be a prime research strategy for developing educational theory which illuminates policy and enhances practice Several different kinds of educational case studies are identified namely theory seeking theory testing story telling picture drawing and evaluative case study and there are substantial examples of each of these The book develops the author's recent advocacy of fuzzy generalization Readers are taken through the various stages in conducting case study research including a helpful account of data collection and data analysis methods Each stage is underpinned by the concepts of trustworthiness and respect for persons Structured narrative and descriptive approaches to writing case study reports are also discussed and the value of conducting an audit is considered This will be a valuable text for students undertaking Masters and Doctorates in Education as well as staff in University departments of education and teachers carrying out small scale research projects

EBOOK: Disseminating Qualitative Research in Educational Settings Christina Hughes, 2003-11-16 This book is a useful addition to the growing literature in the field of educational research methodology and offers a lively and very unusual introduction to an aspect of research which has so far received little attention It is particularly helpful in drawing on experience across the educational landscape including adult and lifelong education as well as schools based work For this very reason it will be a very valuable resource for a broad audience Studies in the Education of Adults The processes and practices of the dissemination of research findings are exceptionally neglected fields in the research methods literature Yet disseminating and using our findings are significant reasons why we undertake research Organised in three parts this text provides an accessible critically informed and up to date overview of key aspects of dissemination In so doing this text provides a critical review of contemporary policy and dissemination models in education contains a series of case studies produced by internationally respected researchers in a range of educational fields Drawing on their extensive experiences of dissemination these case studies illuminate how dissemination acts proceed in qualitative research projects They also illuminate the dilemmas facing qualitative researchers who strive to disseminate their work Enables researchers to develop informed practice in respect of disseminating research in a range of educational settings

Doing qualitative research in educational settings , Policy Research in Educational Settings Jenny Ozga,1999-11-16 This book argues for independent critical research on education policy in the context of attacks on the quality and usefulness of educational research in general It takes issue with the argument promoted by government departments and agencies that education policy research should be limited to work that assists policy makers Against this position the book advocates independent critical research that scrutinizes policy in relation to its consequences for equality and social justice It argues that practitioners and academic researchers should form a research community that develops its own knowledge base from which so called evidence based policymaking in education may be assessed and challenged The book offers guidance on the theoretical and methodological resources available to practitioners and others with an interest in doing research on policy and discusses some of the main issues and problems in doing policy research on education It offers examples of research on policy at different system levels pursuing themes such as globalization changing governance of education selection choice and exclusion managerialism and the feminisation of educational management It argues for attention to the history of policy in education as a resource for understanding the present and concludes with recommendations for future research in areas where contestation of official agendas is needed

Fieldwork in Educational Settings Sara Delamont,1992-01 Delamont s theme is that researchers should be motivated like pilgrims by lust of knowing Just discovering things is not enough the findings must be written up and eventually sold to an audience Flecker s caravan also contained poets who sing to find your hearts and merchants carrying trade goods as well as being driven by that lust of knowing This book is designed to encourage researchers to seek the truth tell it eloquently and find an audience to buy it Most books emphasize the search for truth and neglect the reporting and marketing of the findings This one demands that the investigator should be poet pilgrim and merchant

Life History Research in Educational Settings Ivor Goodson,Patricia J. Sikes,2001 It has long been recognised that life history method has a great deal to offer to those engaged in social research Indeed right from the start of the twentieth century eminent sociologists such as W I Thomas C Wright Mills and Herbert Blumer have suggested that it is the best the perfect approach for studying any aspect of social life In recent years life history has become increasingly popular with researchers investigating educational topics of all kinds including teachers perceptions and experiences of different areas of their lives and careers curriculum and subject development pedagogical practice and managerial concerns Life History Research in Educational Settings sets out to explore and consider the various reasons for this popularity and makes the case that the approach has a major and unique contribution to make to understandings of schools schooling and educational experience however characterised The book draws extensively on examples of life history research in order to illustrate theoretical methodological ethical and practical issues

Education, Research and Perspectives, 2003 Educational Research For Social Justice Morwenna Griffiths, 1998-11-16 This is a book for all researchers in educational settings whose research is motivated by considerations of justice fairness and equity It addresses questions such researchers have to face Will a prior political or ethical commitment bias the research How far can the ideas of empowerment or giving a voice be realised How can researchers who research communities to which they belong deal with the ethical issues of being both insider and outsider The book provides a set of principles for doing educational research for social justice These are rooted in considerations of methodology epistemology and power relations and provide a framework for dealing with the practical issues of collaboration ethics bias empowerment voice uncertain knowledge and reflexivity at all stages of research from getting started to dissemination and taking responsibility as members of the wider community of educational researchers Theoretical arguments and the realities of practical research are brought together and interwoven Thus the book will be helpful to all researchers whether they are just beginning their first project or whether they are already highly experienced It will be of great value to research students in designing and writing up their theses and dissertations

The Moral Foundations of Educational Research Patricia J. Sikes, Jon Nixon, Wilfred Carr, 2003 This title considers what is distinctive about educational research in comparison with other research in the social sciences As the contributors all agree that education is always an essentially moral enterprise discussion about methodology starts not with the widely endorsed claim that educational research should be useful and relevant but with the attempt to justify and elaborate that claim with reference to its moral foundations Determining the nature of usefulness and relevance is not simply a matter of focussing on impact and influence but involves a radical re conceptualisation of the moral and educational significance of what is deemed to be useful and relevant There is no argument with this emphasis on the generation of useful and relevant knowledge but it is suggested that educational research requires a fuller and more rounded understanding that takes account of the moral values of those who conduct it Educational research is grounded epistemologically in the moral foundations of educational practice It is the epistemological and moral purposes underlying the usefulness and relevance of educational research that matter

Narratives and Fictions in Educational Research Peter Clough, 2002 This book considers the role and use of literary and ethnographic approaches in educational research
