Media Authorship Cynthia Chris, David A. Gerstner, 2013. Contemporary media authorship is frequently collaborative, participatory, non-site specific, or quite simply goes unrecognized. In this volume, media and film scholars explore the theoretical debates around authorship, intention, and identity within the rapidly transforming and globalized culture industry of new media. Defining media broadly across a range of creative artifacts and production cultures from visual arts to videogames, from textiles to television, contributors consider authoring practices of artists, designers, do-it-yourselfers, media professionals, scholars, and others. Specifically, they ask: What constitutes media and authorship in a technologically converged, globally conglomerated, multiplatform environment for the production and distribution of content? What can we learn from cinematic and literary models of authorship and critiques of those models with regard to authorship, not only in television and recorded music but also in interactive media such as videogames and the Internet? How do we conceive of authorship through practices in which users generate content collaboratively or via appropriation? What institutional prerogatives and legal debates around intellectual property rights, fair use, and copyright bear on concepts of authorship in new media? By addressing these issues, Media Authorship demonstrates that the concept of authorship, as formulated in literary and film studies, is reinvigorated, contested, remade, even reauthored by new practices in the digital media environment.

The Hollywood Reporter, 1991 The Motion Picture Guide Jay Robert Nash, Stanley Ralph Ross, 1985 Admap, 2009 User-generated Confusion, 2008 EventDV, 2007 Canadian Periodical Index, 1965 The Complete Guide to Becoming a UGC Content Creator and How to Get Started Jai Cadell, 2024-02-27.

UGC content creators are people who create UGC on behalf of their companies. They are often employees or contractors who are given specific tasks to create UGC under the company's brand. The UGC they create is often a work of art and may be considered copyrighted by the artist, which then falls within a company's brand guidelines. Some examples are: A marketing team creates videos UGC to advertise their product; A YouTube channel creates videos related to their product or service; A Facebook page uses images from users' photo albums in an ad.
