In Defense of Reading Sarah E. Worth, 2017-02-08 Why should we read We assume that reading is good for us but often we cannot articulate exactly what it does for us In this fascinating book Sarah Worth addresses from a philosophical perspective the many ways in which reading benefits us morally socially and cognitively Worth leads her readers through the subtle questions of the ways in which we understand fiction nonfiction and the overlap and blending of other genre distinctions Ultimately she argues that reading hearing and telling well told stories is of the utmost importance in developing a healthy sense of personal identity a greater sense of narrative coherence and an increased ability to make different kinds of inferences Engaging classical philosophical questions in the contemporary landscape of educational literacy and the inclusion of fiction in a classroom curriculum Worth demonstrates how our hyper focus on genre distinctions moves us away from a real engagement with narrative understanding and narrative comprehension

Narrative Mediation John Winslade, Gerald D. Monk, 2000-01-28 In this groundbreaking book John Winslade and Gerald Monk leaders in the narrative therapy movement introduce an innovative conflict resolution paradigm that is a revolutionary departure from the traditional problem solving interest based model of resolving disputes The narrative mediation approach encourages the conflicting parties to tell their personal story of the conflict and reach resolution through a profound understanding of the context of their individual stories The authors map out the theoretical foundations of this new approach to conflict resolution and show how to apply specific techniques for the practical application of narrative mediation to a wide variety of conflict situations Rhetoric and Irony

C. Jan Swearingen,1991 This pathbreaking study integrates the histories of rhetoric literacy and literary aesthetics up to the time of Augustine focusing on Western concepts of rhetoric as dissembling and of language as deceptive that Swearingen argues have received curiously prominent emphasis in Western aesthetics and language theory Swearingen reverses the traditional focus on rhetoric as an oral agonistic genre and examines it instead as a paradigm for literate discourse She proposes that rhetoric and literacy have in the West disseminated the interrelated notions that through learning rhetoric individuals can learn to manipulate language and others that language is an unreliable manipulable and contingent vehicle of thought meaning and communication and that literature is a body of pretty lies and beguiling fictions In a bold concluding chapter Swearingen aligns her thesis concerning early Western literacy and rhetoric with contemporary critical and rhetorical theory with feminist studies in language psychology and culture and with studies of literacy in multi and cross cultural settings Humanity, the World and God Willem B.
