Towards HRI of Everyday Life Karolina Zawieska, Mohammad Obaid , Wafa Johal, Jessica Sorenson, Catharina Vesterager Smedegaard, Glenda Hannibal, 2025-10-03 Presently it is often assumed that at least in principle robots and social robots in particular have the potential to increase human well being across a wide range of sectors and application areas At the same time efforts to introduce such systems into our everyday environments have had only limited success and it is yet to be seen whether the impact of social robots on our daily lives professional and private will actually be beneficial Therefore there is a need to systematically address and study the long term use and presence of social robots in everyday environments where humans not only interact with robots but also have them integrated into the totality of their lived experiences in everyday life One of the main ways to investigate human engagement with social robots in everyday environments is through HRI studies conducted in the wild While such an approach has certainly been instrumental to and is increasingly used in HRI research we propose here to further expand the underlying theoretical and methodological frameworks to address the notion of everyday life The latter is viewed here as a useful concept and an umbrella term that allows us to address not only specific application domains for robots but also the continuity and totality of human lived experiences that emerge through long term engagement with social robots in everyday life contexts Placing social robots in everyday settings has often been an explicit goal for robot development however the notion of everyday life has yet to be systematically analysed and addressed in this context Therefore this Research Topic aims to bring together a wide range of disciplinary and interdisciplinary contributions to further develop the HRI domain Diverse Leadership Perspectives in Education: From K-12 to Higher Education Soles, Brooke, Meyerott, Theresa, 2025-05-22 Diverse leadership in education is crucial for fostering inclusive and equitable learning environments across all levels of the education system From K 12 schools to higher education institutions leadership plays a pivotal role in shaping policies curriculum and school culture Embracing diversity in leadership enhances the overall educational experience by ensuring that all voices are heard and valued and it allows underdeveloped voices to be heard Allowing diverse voices in leadership is essential for addressing systemic inequalities while also promoting innovation and preparing students for a globalized world where diverse perspectives are key to success Exploring diverse leadership across educational levels provides insight into how these varied perspectives can positively impact both institutional practices and student outcomes Diverse Leadership Perspectives in Education From K 12 to Higher Education provides an overview of leadership s evolving purpose and scope containing research practical strategies and examples of complex problems in the educational system and how having a diverse voice in leadership can help solve these problems It explores the assets of diversity multiple perspectives and the role of students in the educational landscape This book covers topics such as educational technology gender and diversity and information science and is a useful resource for educators sociologists academicians and researchers Willing's press guide James Willing, 2004 Start a "How To" YouTube Channel with
