Global Perspective on Issues and Trends in Educational Translanguaging Bautista, Jude Cañero, Kim, Jean, 2025-05-29 The growing superdiversity around the world now appears to be the norm In traditional English speaking inner circle nations it is becoming increasingly rare to find classrooms with students who come from monocultural and monolingual backgrounds However teaching practices remain based on Anglocentric standards and perspectives even when most of the English speakers in the world are no longer just the monolingual speakers of the language Research in bilingualism and multilingualism reverberate the potential of translanguaging as a pedagogical practice This is to leverage all the linguistic cultural and semiotic resources of learners so that they can actively engage in the language literacy and content area learning processes in the classroom However even though it has gained ground in theory and research it has not been upheld in instructional practice especially in the Anglophone nations While some regions view translanguaging as a pathway to educational justice others face barriers such as limited resources administrative constraints or lack of teacher training Despite its promise concerns remain around the selective use of languages and the risk of reinforcing existing linguistic hierarchies Global Perspective on Issues and Trends in Educational Translanguaging explores translanguaging pedagogies from both monolingual English speaking contexts and multilingual and multicultural contexts It examines a monolingual multilingual pairing of theoretical research and practical perspectives from around the world assessing how translanguaging pedagogies are practiced and researched worldwide This book covers topics such as indigenous studies migrant learners and pedagogy and is a useful resource for educators language experts academicians researchers and scientists

Through Optimization of Aerospace Vehicle Trajectories by the Pontryagin Maximum Principle Alexander S. Filatyev, Vyacheslav G. Petukhov, 2025-05-28 This monograph investigates the trajectory optimization problems of low and finite thrust aerospace vehicles and spacecraft using an indirect method based on the Pontryagin maximum principle providing a methodological basis for the construction of numerical techniques that are superior in versatility and accuracy to direct methods This book provides a theoretical explanation of the approaches used and also an extensive gallery of the results of practical numerical studies The problem of boundary value problem convergence has been largely overcome which has made it possible to practically automate the optimization of trajectories and to achieve a qualitative generalization with a number of fundamentally new results. Examples of practical optimization of branching trajectories of complex dynamics systems with finite and continual sets of branches in deterministic and stochastic statements with control constraints and phase constraints of various orders are demonstrated. An emphasis is placed on the consistent application of methods of numerical continuation with respect to a parameter to solve various problems in the flight mechanics of spacecraft with an electric propulsion system (EPS). The problems considered include the optimization of direct interplanetary flights of spacecraft with thrusters having limited power or limited thrust of interplanetary flights of such spacecraft using gravity assisted maneuvers of multi-orbit interorbital transfers of spacecraft with limited thrust (EPS). As a result, it was possible to develop a set of numerical continuation methods for solving a wide range of optimization problems for spacecraft trajectories with EPS with improved characteristics in terms of convergence and performance. This monograph also contains a description of many pitfalls in solving a wide range of problems of optimizing the trajectories of aerospace vehicles and recipes for effectively overcoming them.
