ECEL 2016 - Proceedings of the 15th European Conference on e- Learning , Proceedings of the 15th European Conference on e Learning ECEL 2016 Youtube in the Language Classroom Sebastian Altenhoff,2011-02 Seminar paper from the year 2009 in the subject Didactics for the subject English Pedagogy Literature Studies grade 1 0 University of Duisburg Essen Anglophone Studien language English abstract According to Ellis learning a language means making use of the language in R schoff Wolff 1999 54 This not only implies the claim of free spontaneous communication but also of dealing with and of experiencing the target language as such The claim of experiencing the target language in the language classroom leads to a growing interest in the quality of the materials used According to Wolff 1998 any kind of learning no matter whether verbal or non verbal has to be embedded in a rich learning environment that has not been reduced concerning its complexity Authenticity is thus one of the main criteria in order to evaluate the quality of materials This criterion applies to all materials such as literature that have not been changed for the purpose of teaching and learning of course In this thesis however using authentic video in the language classroom will be considered and analysed according to its didactic benefits Integrating video in the language classroom does not necessarily mean having to watch and to analyse a whole film of ninety minutes Thanks to Web 2 0 applications such as YouTube the accessibility of short video clips advertisements or film excerpts has become very simple Because of the growing popularity of this webpage and of integrating Web 2 0 applications in the learning environments in general my entire analysis will relate to videos taken from YouTube This thesis aims to provide both a theoretical part I and a practical investigation part II of the topic in order to create a framework for analysis I will first of all give a short overview of the didactic benefits of integrating authentic video in the language classroom in general This survey is followed by a short description of the basic ideas of YouTube

The Effectiveness of Video-based Lessons as Instructional Materials in Light of the Covid-19 Pandemic Imelda Escandor, 2022-08-03 Academic Paper from the year 2022 in the subject Pedagogy Media Pedagogy language English abstract This study aims to determine the level of effectiveness of video based lessons as instructional learning material for pupils as perceived by teachers in schools Although it was revealed that video based lessons as one of the instructional tools is rated as very effective by teachers there are problems encountered in the utilization of them for pupils amidst the pandemic These include lack of knowledge on how to utilize video based lessons as a classroom tool lack of instructional materials such as laptops and cellphones that can be used in accessing the video based information difficulty in creating video based lessons due to poor internet connections short attention span among learners and big expenses on the part of pupils especially during a pandemic where not all pupils can afford to buy phones The study successfully surfaced some teachers solutions to resolve the problems in the utilization of video based lessons as instructional learning materials such as asking for assistance from an ICT Coordinator or well trained teachers on how to learn to create and use video based materials for teaching purposes knowing the needs of learners Also watching YouTube videos to gain different ideas on how to create interactive short video based lessons to address pupils who have a short attention span while watching lessons and attending online training relative to the development and utilization of video based lessons to equip them with the skills in teaching classes in modern ways Both quantitative and qualitative methods were used in the study The respondents of the study were fifteen elementary teachers A purposive sampling technique was utilized Interviews Survey Questionnaire Participant Observation and Focus Group Discussion were the methods employed
