Mom the Chemistry Professor Kimberly Wozniak, Amber Charlebois, Renée Cole, Cecilia Marzabadi, Gail Webster, 2018-07-28 When is the right time How can I meet the demands of a professorship whilst caring for a young family Choosing to become a mother has a profound effect on the career path of women holding academic positions especially in the physical sciences Yet many women successfully manage to do both In this second edition which is a project of the Women Chemists Committee WCC of the American Chemical Society ACS 40 inspirational personal accounts describe the challenges and rewards of combining motherhood with an academic career in chemistry The authors are all women at different stages of their career and from a range of institution types in both tenure and non tenure track positions The authors include women from different racial and ethnic backgrounds who became mothers at different stages of their career and who have a variety of family structures Aimed at undergraduate and graduate students of chemistry as well as postdoctoral fellows and early career faculty these contributions serve as examples for women considering a career in academia but worry about how this can be balanced with other important aspects of life The authors describe how they overcame particular challenges but also highlight aspects of the system which could be improved to accommodate women academics and particularly encourage more women to take on academic positions in the sciences

Television and the Self Kathleen M. Ryan, Deborah A. Macey, 2013-04-05 Sitting prominently at the hearth of our homes television serves as a voice of our modern time Given our media saturated society and television s prominent voice and place in the home it is likely we learn about our society and selves through these stories These narratives are not simply entertainment but powerful socializing agents that shape and reflect the world and our role in it Television and the Self Knowledge Identity and Media Representation brings together a diverse group of scholars to investigate the role television plays in shaping our understanding of self and family This edited collection s rich and diverse research demonstrates how television plays an important role in negotiating self and goes far beyond the treacly very special episodes found in family sitcoms in the 1980s Instead the authors show how television reflects our reality and helps us to sort out what it means to be a twenty first century man or woman

Organisational Behaviour Jack Maxwell Wood, Retha Wiesner, Rachel R. Morrison, Aharon Factor, Tui McKeown, 2024-10-28 The sixth Australasian edition of Organisational Behaviour Core Concepts and Applications stands as an exemplary resource tailored for one semester courses in Organisational Behaviour With a deliberate focus on succinctness relevance and visual presentation its fourteen chapters are meticulously crafted to captivate rather than inundate students Throughout the text a plethora of case studies and real world instances delve into how organisations across the Australian New Zealand and Asian regions navigate pressing contemporary business concerns These include the imperative of sustainable business practices grappling with environmental impact and climate change mitigating the gender pay gap addressing employee stress fostering resilience and work life balance adapting to the dynamics of millennials and an ageing workforce enhancing employee retention strategies and navigating the complexities of globalisation and outsourcing Additionally topics such as fostering diversity in the workplace responding to the workforce transformations precipitated by the COVID 19 pandemic managing remote teams effectively honing crisis management skills and harnessing the potential of emerging technologies particularly the ascendancy of generative artificial intelligence AI tools are comprehensively explored This latest edition amplifies its focus on sustainability entrepreneurial and adaptive leadership and the pivotal role of technology in catalysing digital transformation within organisational contexts Complemented by the latest research in the field this text provides a thorough analysis of contemporary organisational behaviour

Narratives of TESOL Professionals Hayriye Kayi-Aydar,Angel Steadman,Kate Shea,2023-09-01 Through insiders perspectives and narratives this edited collection provides insight into the lived experiences of recent graduates of various English Applied Linguistics and or TESOL doctoral programs in North America The authors document how their personal and professional identities intersected during their doctoral studies and how these doctoral programs as learning environments supported them in their professional development and dissertation research As such their insider perspectives and narratives are of special value to those contemplating pursuing such a program or are in progress towards their own degree as well as the faculty members who advise and support these doctoral students Chapters focus on topics immediately relevant to success and persistence in a doctoral program such as developing a network of mentors establishing a work life balance and professional socialization among others All authors are recent graduates of their programs who have been intentionally selected for their recent memories in navigating the process At a time when doctoral program persistence declines at the intersection of students gender and racial background see Okahana Zhou 2019 there is a pressing need to share the insights and lived experiences of those less commonly featured in narratives of the successful doctoral scholar This need is especially true among TESOL professionals who will teach and learn in diverse global settings throughout their careers following their graduation This book contributes to that need and it is an essential resource for scholars in TESOL English Applied Linguistics and other similar doctoral programs
