DuMont,,Tom H. Hastings,Emiko Noma,2013-02-28 Seeking to expand the transformative aspect of conflict resolution the contributors to this edited collection have focused on gathering scholarship from under represented voices and viewpoints in the field the emerging discipline Most mainstream conflict resolution seems to look either at interpersonal conflict or international conflict without much focus on the differing individuals and social structures involved These peer reviewed essays add significant findings to those gaps in the literature The editors and contributors are perhaps not coincidentally mostly women and people of color whose voices are often absent from other collections Instructors considering this book for use in a course may request an examination copy here

The contribution of NGOs to international conflict resolution Tilman Pradt, 2014-04-11 Non governmental organisations NGOs have become important actors in the globalised world They run aid and relief programmes in the poorest countries support international institutions like the United Nations or are watchdogs of them for example watchdogs of the Bretton Woods institutions In doing so NGOs naturally work permanently with state agencies and it is probably hard to find an NGO which is totally free of any governmental support in financial logistical or informative matters Thus there are strong NGO government connections on a daily work basis NGOs run multiple attempts to contribute to the resolution of conflicts on all political levels They bring together people on the grass root level they try to influence high officials through public pressure and they organise conferences and discussions with members and consultants of the concerned parties The latter approach is analysed in this study But how do NGOs influence the level of official international relations To which degree can NGOs improve the relations of two conflicted parties especially when the conflict is protracted and severe The aim of this study is to define the preconditions of successful NGO mediation to measure the NGO influence as an antecedent condition for successful mediation and to exhibit its limits The underlying assumption is that conflict resolution is more likely if NGO mediation supports this attempt This approach can be labelled as an assumption of constant effect since the focus is on understanding the NGOs influence on international conflict resolution Three cases of NGO led mediation attempts are analysed The cases are selected because of their problematic official relations are chosen under criteria of comparability Thus they have similar conditions framework in common namely in matters of time territory and main actors The case studies analysed are seated in the Middle East because negotiations between Israel and Palestine were and still are highly conflicted protracted and many mediation attempts by third parties have taken place there The analysis of these three cases their differences and similarities shall lead to a better general understanding of the possibilities and limits of NGOs and the necessary preconditions
