disrupting participation into their strategies even turning to adult consumers to pass fandom to the next generation Derek Johnson presents an innovative perspective that looks beyond the simple category of kids media to consider how entertainment industry strategies invite producers and consumers alike to cross boundaries between adulthood and childhood professional and amateur new media and old Revealing the social norms reproductive ideals and labor hierarchies on which such transformations depend he identifies the lines of authority and power around which legacy media institutions like television comics and toys imagine their futures in a digital age Johnson proposes that it is not strategies of media production but of media reproduction that are most essential in this context To understand these critical intersections he investigates transgenerational industry practice in television co viewing recruitment of adult comic readers as youth outreach ambassadors media professionals identification with childhood the branded management of adult fans of LEGO and the labor of child YouTube video creators These dynamic relationships may appear to disrupt generational and industry boundaries alike However by considering who media industries empower when generating the future in these reproductive terms and who they leave out Johnson ultimately demonstrates how their strategies reinforce existing power structures This book makes vital contributions to media studies in its fresh approach to the intersections of adulthood and childhood its attention to the relationship between legacy and digital media industries and its advancement of dialogue between media production and consumption researchers It will interest scholars in media industry studies and across media studies more broadly with particular appeal to those concerned about the current and future reach of media industries into our lives

I was 24 years old and I felt like I was rich. I could go anywhere at any time and had no one to answer to. At a moment's notice, I could book a trip to Brazil, Spain, South Africa, or France. What's more, I'd make money while I was traveling. The catch was I wasn't rich. Nowhere close. Don't get me wrong, I was making good money. I was living in New York City. I could afford to party, eat out, and even save money. But my time wasn't tied to my money. I was making money in my sleep and not even trying. Sounds like the story behind some kind of scam, right? I thought so, too. I never bought into book titles like The Four Hour Work Week, Rich Dad Poor Dad, or Think and Grow Rich. When I talked about my job with relatives and family members, they'd raise their eyebrows in surprise. They'd look at me doubtfully and say, "And you can make money at that?" Of course, I could. After all, so many people online were making a killing. People couldn't comprehend the fact that I was able to set up a blog so easily and rake in cash even when I was sleeping I had to be lying or doing something illegal Otherwise everyone would be doing it This book is going to show you exactly how to start your own blog and turn it into a full time cash generating machine I m going to give you the keys to the kingdom which will unlock this entirely new career that you never thought possible
