International Advances in Writing Research Charles Bazerman, Chris Dean, 2012-09-09. The authors report research that considers writing in all levels of schooling in science in the public sphere and in the workplace as well as the relationship among these various places of writing. The authors also consider the cultures of writing among them: national cultures, gender cultures, schooling cultures, scientific cultures, and cultures of the workplace.

Experiential Exercises in Organization Theory & Design H. Eugene Baker, Steven K. Paulson, 2007. Experiential Exercises in Organization Theory & Design presents a collection of thirty-nine experiential exercises designed to help illustrate and internalize key concepts in organization theory. These exercises, varying in length and complexity, offer activities ranging from personal inventories to creative production exercises. Many of these exercises include fieldwork. The text has thirteen chapters with three exercises per chapter, each focusing on a central topic such as Fundamentals of Organization, Structure, Information Technology, and Control, Innovation and Change, and Conflict, Power, and Politics. Exercises are arranged in three distinct parts: Objectives, stating the desired outcome; Process, presenting step-by-step instructions; and Feedback, addressing questions for an individualized debriefing of the exercise. The exercises have all been tested and are adapted from a wide array of sources to ensure a variety of activities that will engage and challenge the student.
