Expert Systems and Applied Artificial Intelligence Efraim Turban, Louis E. Frenzel, 1992 This book is devoted mainly to applied expert systems It does cover four additional applied AI Topics natural language processing computer vision speech understanding and intelligent robotics Preface Guide for the Management of Expert Systems Development Rand Corporation, 1989 This report was prepared to assist managers in the risk managed application of expert systems ES technology Two problems that have frustrated managers and technicians who might otherwise be interested in exploring ES solutions are the seeming lack of a software engineering discipline for creating and maintaining expert systems and the fact that the software development risks associated with expert systems have not been clearly addressed This guide focuses on ES development as a software engineering endeavor and emphasizes that as such it should be subject to much the same discipline as conventional automated information system software The guide is meant to be used in conjunction with accepted software development methods and standards such as Department of Defense DOD Standards 2167A and 7935 1 DOD Directive 7920 1 DOD Instruction 7920 2 and the OSD Major Automated System Review Council MAISRC Guidelines for Program Managers This document presents a step by step guideline that addresses the managerial and technical risks of each phase in the software development life cycle of systems that contain ES components Proceedings of the Fourth Annual Artificial Intelligence & Advanced Computer Technology Conference Murray Teitell, 1988 Section Newsletters Association of American Law Schools, 1988 Introduction to Expert Systems Peter Jackson, 1999 In May 1997 IBM's Deep Blue defeated the world chess champion Gary Kasparov showing that an artificial intelligence system can outplay even the most skilled of human experts Since the first expert systems appeared in the late sixties we have seen three decades of research and development engineer human knowledge to more practical ends in a pioneering effort that has integrated diverse areas of cognitive and computer science Today expert systems exist in many forms from medical diagnosis to investment analysis and from counseling to production control This third edition of Peter Jackson's best selling book updates the technological base of expert systems research and embeds those developments in a wide variety of application areas The earlier chapters have been refocused to take a more practical approach to the basic topics while the later chapters introduce new topic areas such as case based reasoning connectionist systems and hybrid systems Results in related areas such as machine learning and reasoning with uncertainty are also accorded a thorough treatment The new edition contains many new examples and exercises most of which are in CLIPS a language that combines production rules with object oriented programming LISP PROLOG and C are also featured where appropriate Interesting problems are posed throughout and are solved in exercises involving the analysis design and implementation of CLIPS programs This book will prove useful to a wide readership including general readers students and teachers software engineers and researchers Its modular structure enables readers to follow a pathway most suited to their needs providing them with an up to date account of expert systems technology Peter Jackson is Director of Research at West Group a division of The Thomson Corporation and the leading provider of information to the US legal market Peter drives the application of natural language and information retrieval technologies to the information needs of law and business Previous appointments include Principal Scientist at the McDonnell Douglas Research Laboratories in Saint Louis Missouri and Lecturer in the Department of Artificial Intelligence at the University of Edinburgh Scotland The Platinum Workforce Trond Arne Undheim, 2025-11-25 Artificial intelligence is already causing a major shift in the nature of work Countries colleges or employers are not prepared to continuously train billions of knowledge workers to compete in this new economic reality But that's not all More change is coming due to the polycrisis of pressing challenges such as sustainability social inequality and geopolitical instability Figuring out what career paths skills and talents we need to nurture has never been more urgent especially for those who aspire to leadership In The Platinum Workforce futurist and technologist Trond Arne Undheim reveals how to be a changemaker in the ongoing re-industrial transition. Industrial principles such as lean manufacturing, technological advancement, and production at scale meet significant sustainability challenges, increased risks, and intricate inequality concerns from the Global South as well as from workers in advanced societies who also feel left behind. Undheim has spent the last decade examining the technologies, risks, and trends shaping the future of work. Helping startups, shaping governance policies, teaching students, and building educational programs, he has found that there are two core skills and ten complementary skills that will define both individual and collective success in the future of work. The core skills are deft human-AI collaboration and an innate interoperability mindset, but teams together mastering the ten complementary skills: eco-awareness, maker skills, mediation skills, megascale operations, mobility, risk aptitude, R&D hacks, psycho-resilience, sociotechnical finesse, and systems thinking is what will define future leadership. Leading the 21st-century workplace will require unprecedented levels of human-AI collaboration. But evolving new forms of augmented intelligence will not be easy. We all have to train for it constantly, adapting to new interfaces and watching out for risks that could derail progress or create new problems. But the challenge does not stop there. Tackling the cascading effects of evolving hazards requires astute risk management. Transdisciplinary skills such as an entrepreneurial approach, megascale execution ability, and socio-technical skills will need to be constantly honed. Leaders and workers alike need to develop an interoperability mindset. Success requires adapting to and helping others adapt to the fundamental shifts in the materials, methods, tools, and technologies fueling the intricate cultural machine we call society. No matter our degrees, experiences, resources, or current skill sets to compete in this new world, we need a reset.
