Steelman, 2010-04-15 Over the past three decades governments at the local state and federal levels have undertaken a wide range of bold innovations often in partnership with nongovernmental organizations and communities to try to address their environmental and natural resource management tasks. Many of these efforts have failed. Innovations by definition are transitory. How then can we establish new practices that endure Toddi A Steelman argues that the key to successful and long lasting innovation must be a realistic understanding of the challenges that face it She examines three case studies land management in Colorado watershed management in West Virginia and timber management in New Mexico and reveals specific patterns of implementation success and failure Steelman challenges conventional wisdom about the role of individual entrepreneurs in innovative practice She highlights the institutional obstacles that impede innovation and its longer term implementation while offering practical insight in how enduring change might be achieved Decision-Making in the Absense of Certainty ,

The Green Agenda in American Politics Robert J. Duffy, 2003 Organizations such as the Sierra Club and Friends of the Earth are familiar to anyone with an interest in environmental protection As activist groups they played by the same rules for years But in 1994 the rules changed With the Republican takeover of Congress environmental groups faced sweeping changes in federal policies that threatened the enforcement of environmental laws As these organizations intensified their efforts to meet these challenges they also altered their electoral strategies and political spending patterns This book traces those actions and shows what they mean for the future of environmentalism in the political arena While environmental advocacy groups have become bigger and better funded in recent years so have the corporate interests that compete with them for the attention of public and politicians The Green Agenda in American Politics offers a new look at environmental advocacy that focuses on contemporary lobbying electioneering and agenda setting in this new context Drawing on interviews with activists from a wide range of organizations Robert Duffy describes what environmental groups actually do when lobbying officials or the public He examines activity at both national and state levels to emphasize their growing use of websites email and action alert networks to conduct more sophisticated grassroots campaigns and he shows how they are devoting more funds to unregulated forms of spending such as independent expenditure issue advocacy advertising and public education campaigns Duffy also tracks emerging trends in interest group politics and provides an overview of activism through the early 1990s He then documents the emergence of more aggressive action after 1994 such as providing campaign services to candidates and mounting voter registration drives He also shows how state and local groups have begun to play more important roles in the wake of the rollback of federal environmental regulations Brimming with new insights into interest group lobbies in general and contemporary environmental groups in particular Duffy s book opens a new window on the influence of Big Money in the supposedly democratic electoral process      Public Policy and the Two States of Kansas H. George Frederickson, 1994 The authors survey general revenue and demographic issues and then analyze the five policy areas education corrections transportation welfare and health that consume 84 3% of the state budget and that in terms of both cost and controversy rank highest on the state's policy agenda Emerging from this analysis is the disturbing consensus that Kansas is an increasingly divided state one urban younger and wealthier the other rural older and poorer      The Politics of Problem Definition David A. Rochefort, Roger W. Cobb, 1994 At the nexus of politics and policy development lies persistent conflict over where problems come from what they signify and based on the answers to those questions what kinds of solutions should be sought Policy researchers call this process problem definition Written for both scholars and students this book explains how and why social issues come to be defined in different ways how these definitions are expressed in the world of politics and what consequences these definitions have for government action and agenda setting dynamics The authors demonstrate in two theoretical chapters and seven provocative case studies how problem definition affects policymaking for high profile social issues like AIDS drugs and sexual harassment as well as for problems like traffic congestion plant closings agricultural tax benefits and air transportation By examining the way social problems are framed for political discussion the authors illuminate the unique impact of beliefs values ideas and language on the public policymaking process and its outcomes In so doing they establish a common vocabulary for the study of problem definition review and critique the insights of existing work on the topic and identify directions for future research      The Politics of Plant Closings John Portz, 1990 A paper reprint of the 1988 original It is a political history that describes and analyzes the management of organized knowledge Wheatley takes Flexner and the Carnegie Foundation of 1910 as the model Portz political science Northeastern U combines a synthesis of the literature on urban politics and political economy with a close analysis of plant closings in Pittsburgh Pennsylvania Louisville Kentucky and Waterloo Iowa to illuminate the complexity of constraints upon and range of local government efforts to control the economic damage caused by shutdowns Paper edition unseen 12 95 Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR      Comparing Public Policies: Issues and Choices In Six Industrialized Countries Jessica R Adolino, Charles H Blake, 2001 Table of Contents Tables Figures and Boxes ix Preface xi An Introduction to Comparative Public Policy 1 The Increasing Internationalization of Public Policy 4 The Organization of This Book 6 1 The Policy Process 1 The Study of the Policy Process 8 The Policy Process Revisited 28 2 Theories of Policy Making 31 The Cultural School 31 The Economic School 34 The Political School 38 The Institutional School 41 An Eclectic Approach to Examining Policy Theories 45 3 Political and Economic Dynamics in Industrialized Countries 47 Social Cleavage 47 Interest Groups 48 Political Parties and Party Systems 51 Voting Behavior 55 Electoral Systems 59 Executive Legislative Relations 63 Intergovernmental Relations 67 The Bureaucracy 69 The Judiciary 70 Economic Dynamics 71 4 The Policy making Context 77 The United States 77 Japan 80 Germany 83 France 86 The United Kingdom 89 Italy 92
