Knowledge Production, Area Studies and Global Cooperation Claudia Derichs, 2017-04-27 Whereas Area Studies and cross border cooperation research conventionally demarcates groups of people by geographical boundaries individuals might in fact feel more connected by shared values and principles than by conventional spatial dimensions Knowledge Production Area Studies and Global Cooperation asks what norms and principles lead to the creation of knowledge about cross border cooperation and connection It studies why theories methods and concepts originate in one place rather than another how they travel and what position the scholar adopts while doing research particularly in the field Taking case studies from Asia the Middle East and North Africa the book links the production of alternative epistemologies to the notion of global cooperation and reassesses the ways in which the concept of connectedness can be applied at the translocal and individual rather than the formal international and collective level Knowledge Production Area Studies and Global Cooperation provides an innovative and critical approach towards established means of producing knowledge about different areas of the world demonstrating that an understanding of pluri local connectivity should be integrated into the production of knowledge about different areas of the world and the behavioural dimension of global cooperation By shifting the view from the collective to the individual and from the formal to often invisible patterns of connectedness this book provides an important fresh perspective which will be of interest to scholars and students of Area Studies Politics International Relations and Development Studies The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY ND 4.0 license

Al-Fārūqī's Approach to Monotheism In His Book, "Tawhid, Its Implications for Thought and Life"

Fayez Almahmoud, 2025-05-31 About the Book In this book I highlight the approach of Dr Ismail Al Faruqi may God have mercy on him in studying Tawhid I have endeavored to achieve the goal of highlighting and clarifying his vision in his study of Tawhid in which he asserted that Tawhid is the essence of Arab Islamic civilization its cornerstone and the foundation of the cognitive system This vision is embodied in the fact that the essence of Tawhid is based on the trinity of knowledge of religious obligations knowledge of contemporary reality and knowledge of the art of applying obligations to reality All of this requires careful consideration of God Almighty s system in the cosmic and religious laws The soundness of ideas is measured by the soundness of their origins their consistency with them and their ability to produce mechanisms for their implementation In short the Muslim Ummah leads other contemporary nations in terms of apparent and latent potential However it does not live in the status of a nation witnessing the rise of other nations but rather suffers from the status of a nation under attack It has shifted from a nation with a sublime cultural contribution in its past to a nation with a meager and sad contribution in its present It needs to activate God s laws to change the soul and life through pure monotheism which transcends the level of elite action to the level of qualifying the entire Ummah to represent the project of cultural reform This can be summarized in thirteen aspects that confirm that monotheism is the essence of religious experience the essence of civilization the principle of history the principle of knowledge the principle of the unseen the principle of ethics the principle of social order the principle of the nation the principle of the family the principle of the political order the principle of the economic order the principle of the global order and the principle of beauty These approaches are the duty of the age for the group and the individual The most important question remains What is the impact of monotheism on all these aspects
