institutional structures in understanding issues of access from a social perspective This is a specialist book for those working in writing centres and for academics of all disciplines It is based on research and provides an important set of theoretical arguments developed through reflection on writing centre practices about student writing and the work of the university Professor Sioux McKenna Centre for Higher Education Research Teaching and Learning Rhodes University How do we select and train tutors How do we work with faculty How do we combat the image that we are remedial a fix it shop How do we prove our worth How do we show that we improve retention Changing Spaces demonstrates the flexibility of writing centers and the unique roles they play in South Africa Writing centers everywhere represent institutional responses to the learning needs of their students and they do so because writing centers adapt easily to different contexts and situations They meet students where they are as a group and individually Professor Leigh Ryan Writing Center Director University of Maryland USA

Center Will Hold Michael Pemberton, 2003-12-01 In The Center Will Hold Pemberton and Kinkead have compiled a major volume of essays on the signal issues of scholarship that have established the writing center field and that the field must successfully address in the coming decade The new century opens with new institutional demographic and financial challenges and writing centers in order to hold and extend their contribution to research teaching and service must continuously engage those challenges Appropriately the editors offer the work of Muriel Harris as a key pivot point in the emergence of writing centers as sites of pedagogy and research The volume develops themes that Harris first brought to the field and contributors here offer explicit recognition of the role that Harris has played in the development of writing center theory and practice But they also use her work as a springboard from which to provide reflective descriptive and predictive looks at the field
