Agricultural Development And Food Security In Africa The Impact Of Chinese Indian And Brazilian Investments Africa Now:

Agricultural Development and Food Security in Africa Renu Modi, Fantu Cheru, 2013-08-08 The subject of food security and land issues in Africa has become one of increased importance and contention over recent years In particular the focus has shifted to the role new global South donors especially India China and Brazil are playing in shaping African agriculture through their increased involvement and investment in the continent Approaching the topic through the framework of South South co operation this highly original volume presents a critical analysis of the ways in which Chinese Indian and Brazilian engagements in African agriculture are structured and implemented Do these investments have the potential to create new opportunities to improve local living standards transfer new technology and knowhow to African producers and reverse the persistent productivity decline in African agriculture Or will they simply aggravate the problem of food insecurity by accelerating the process of land alienation and displacement of local people from their land Topical and comprehensive Agricultural Development and Food Security in Africa offers fresh insight into a set of relationships that will shape both Africa and the world over the coming decades

Agricultural Development and Food Security in Africa Fantu Cheru, Renu Modi, This highly original volume presents a critical analysis of the ways in which Chinese Indian and Brazilian engagements in African agriculture are structured and implemented Topical and comprehensive Agricultural Development and Food Security in Africa offers fresh insight into a set of relationships that will shape both Africa and the world over the coming decades

Forging New Partnerships, Breaching New Frontiers Rejaul Karim Laskar, 2023-02-06 The ten years of UPA rule has been a crucial passage in the evolution of India's foreign policy and yet this period has been until now curiously understudied This book bridges this puzzling gap in the literature

Globalization and Agriculture Miguel Rocha de Sousa, Zander Navarro, Antônio Márcio Buainain, 2017-11-08 Globalization and Agriculture Redefining Unequal Development focuses on the development of national agriculture of nine countries in Latin America Africa and Asia from two different and complementary angles One angle is the opportunities created by globalization for agricultural production and how the countries have dealt with the expansion of the world as a consequence of the world market The other angle is the social and economic consequences of globalization for agricultural and rural development The case studies included in this book prove that the contradictory meanings referred above are indeed representative of different facets and features of globalization

Sexual Violence as a Weapon of War? Maria Eriksson Baaz, Professor Maria Stern, 2013-05-09 All too often in conflict situations rape is referred to as a weapon of war a term presented as self explanatory through its implied storyline of gender and warring In this provocative but much needed book Eriksson Baaz and Stern challenge the dominant understandings of sexual violence in conflict and post conflict settings Reading with and against feminist analyses of the interconnections between gender warring violence and militarization the authors address many of the thorny issues inherent in the arrival of sexual violence on the global security agenda Based on original fieldwork in the Democratic Republic of the Congo as well as research material from other conflict zones Sexual Violence as a Weapon of War challenges the recent prominence given to sexual violence bravely highlighting various problems with isolating sexual violence from other violence in war A much anticipated book by two acknowledged experts in the field on an issue that has become an increasingly important security legal and gender topic Africa Renewal ,2012 Malaŵi National Bibliography Library of the National Archives (Malawi),2015 World Agricultural Economics and Rural Sociology Abstracts ,1994 The New York Times Index ,2003 International Trade Reporter ,2003 Agricultural Development in China and Africa Li Xiaoyun,Qi Gubo,Tang Lixia,Zhao Lixia,Jin Leshan,Guo Zhanfeng,Wu Jin,2012-05-04 Many African countries are increasingly interested in learning from China s experiences in achieving effective agricultural development The Chinese government and academic community are also keen to share experiences and lessons with Africa China made agriculture one of its development assistance priorities at the Third FOCAC Summit in Beijing in 2006 This systematic comparative study of agricultural development in China and Africa provides a unique basis for African countries and international organizations seeking to understand agricultural development in China and for China to understand agricultural development on the African continent The book highlights experiences and lessons from China and in particular analyzes why Africa has not yet been able to emulate China s agricultural development trajectory It compares the similarities and discrepancies in conditions processes and outcomes between China and Africa from the perspectives of investment science and technology policies and international development aid Based on this it explores which experiences and lessons from China s agriculture development can be shared with African countries in order to contribute to the sustainable improvement and transformation of African agriculture It does not claim that China has all of the answers but while recognizing the diversity within both China and Africa concludes that much can be gained from such a comparison Extraterritorial investments in agriculture in Africa: the perspectives of China and South Africa Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations ,2020-11-30 The 2008 global food price crisis and the resurgence of food prices in 2010 2011 caused both widespread concern and expectations On the one hand countries whose food supply depends on procuring food from international markets saw food price spikes as threats to their national food security On the other hand investors saw in these price spikes an opportunity to make profitable investments in agriculture Either as threat or opportunity food price spikes raised interest in Africa whose lands are fertile and have unrealised potential Concerns of a possible land acquisitions in Africa and in particular the impacts of Large Scale Land Based Investments in Agriculture LSLBIA on local communities became prominent policy and academic themes Unfortunately quantifying the phenomenon has proved hard due to the difficulty of finding empirical evidence As a result debates are either theoretical or based on anecdotal evidence This publication thus explores a different path and explores the reasons why entities from China and South Africa were interested in investing in African agriculture This publication examines the reasons why investors were interested in Africa and the relationship that these bear to The Voluntary Guidelines on the Responsible Governance of Tenure of Land Fisheries and Forests in the Context of National Food Security the Voluntary Guidelines or VGGT While primarily aimed at governments the VGGT also contain important provisions that are applicable to the private sector They focus on helping investors pursue their projects in ways that recognise and respect legitimate tenure rights and human rights In addition the VGGT also contain provisions and encourages good practices for responsible investment in land forests and fisheries The VGGT are a valuable tool for helping investors minimise risk while also safeguarding the rights of local communities China and South Africa represent important sources of LSLBIA in Africa although the bulk of such investment comes from western countries Their investment may intensify in the future for a variety of reasons First China has the third largest land area in the world but its expansion through additional land use is limited Second the dual agricultural economy of South Africa is preventing commercial farming located in well endowed areas from expanding into remote resource poor areas where small scale subsistence based production is prevalent This publication assesses the extent to which selected investors from China and South Africa and the governments of those countries have adopted the best practices represented by the VGGT in relation to LSLBIA in Congress. House. Committee on Foreign Affairs. Subcommittee on Africa and Global Health, 2007 Will Africa Feed China? Deborah Brautigam, 2015 In this clear eyed and incisive book one of the world s leading authorities on China s relationship with Africa exposes the myths and realities of the so called Chinese land grab Impact of Science on African Agriculture and Food Security P. Anandajayasekeram, 2007 The need for agricultural research resources in the developing world cannot be underestimated but the availability of such resources is often poor due to lack of funding and investment In order for Africa and other such developing countries to achieve productivity in agriculture vital to food security poverty reduction and sustainable management of natural resources investment and policy development needs to be assessed This book a joint effort from IFPRI ILRI and the Kellogg Foundation explores the importance of impact assessment studies in Africa and assembles important evidence to pave the way for further much needed investment in agricultural research all over the developing world African Farmers, Value Chains and Agricultural Development Alan de Brauw, Erwin Bulte, 2021-11-02 This book provides a thorough introduction to and examination of agricultural value chains in Sub Saharan Africa First the authors introduce the economic theory of agri food value chains and value chain governance focusing on domestic and regional trade in and consumption of food crops in a low income country context In addition to mainstream and heterodox thinking about value chain development the book pays attention to political economy considerations The book also reviews the empirical evidence on value chain development and performance in Africa It adopts multiple lenses to examine agricultural value chains zooming out from the micro level e g relational contracting in a context of market imperfections to the meso level e g distributional implications of various value chain interventions inclusion of specific social groups and the macro level underlying income population and urbanization trends volumes and prices etc Furthermore this book places value chain development in the context of a process the authors refer to as structural transformation 2 0 which refers to a process where production factors labor land and capital move from low productivity agriculture to high productivity agriculture Finally throughout the book the authors interpret the evidence in light of three important debates i how competitive are rural factor and product markets and what does this imply for distribution and innovation ii what role do foreign investment and factor proportions play in the development of agri food value chains in Africa iii what complementary government policies can help facilitate a process of agricultural value chain transformation towards high productive activities and enhancing the capacity of value chains to generate employment opportunities and food security for a growing population
