The Best of Us Joyce Maynard, 2017-09-05 This haunting story penned by a master wordsmith is a reminder to savor every loved one and every day Booklist Indie Next Pick For Reading Groups From New York Times bestselling author Joyce Maynard a memoir about discovering strength in the midst of great loss heart wrenching inspiring full of joy and tears and life Anne Lamott In 2011 when she was in her late fifties beloved author and journalist Joyce Maynard met the first true partner she had ever known Jim wore a rakish hat over a good head of hair he asked real questions and gave real answers he loved to see Joyce shine both in and out of the spotlight and he didn't mind the mess she made in the kitchen He was not the husband Joyce imagined but he quickly became the partner she had always dreamed of Before they met both had believed they were done with marriage and even after they married Joyce resolved that no one could alter her course of determined independence Then just after their one year wedding anniversary her new husband was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer During the nineteen months that followed as they battled his illness together she discovered for the first time what it really meant to be a couple to be a true partner and to have one This is their story Charting the course through their whirlwind romance a marriage cut short by tragedy and Joyce's return to singleness on new terms The Best of Us is a heart wrenching ultimately life affirming reflection on coming to understand true love through the experience of great loss

Raymond Carver in the Classroom Susanne Rubenstein, 2005 Provides biographical information detailed discussion of certain short stories and poems and innovative activities for students

The Recovering Leslie Jamison, 2018-04-03 From the New York Times bestselling author of The Empathy Exams comes this transformative work showing that sometimes the recovery is more gripping than the addiction With its deeply personal and seamless blend of memoir cultural history literary criticism and reportage The Recovering turns our understanding of the traditional addiction narrative on its head demonstrating that the story of recovery can be every bit as electrifying as the train wreck itself Leslie Jamison deftly excavates the stories we tell about addiction both her own and others and examines

what we want these stories to do and what happens when they fail us All the while she offers a fascinating look at the larger history of the recovery movement and at the complicated bearing that race and class have on our understanding of who is criminal and who is ill At the heart of the book is Jamison's ongoing conversation with literary and artistic geniuses whose lives and works were shaped by alcoholism and substance dependence including John Berryman Jean Rhys Billie Holiday Raymond Carver Denis Johnson and David Foster Wallace as well as brilliant lesser known figures such as George Cain lost to obscurity but newly illuminated here Through its unvarnished relation of Jamison's own ordeals The Recovering also becomes a book about a different kind of dependency the way our desires can make us all as she puts it broken spigots of need It's about the particular loneliness of the human experience the craving for love that both devours us and shapes who we are For her striking language and piercing observations Jamison has been compared to such iconic writers as Joan Didion and Susan Sontag yet her utterly singular voice also offers something new With enormous empathy and wisdom Jamison has given us nothing less than the story of addiction and recovery in America writ large a definitive and revelatory account that will resonate for years to come

American Tantalus Andrew Warnes, 2014-10-23 American Tantalus argues that modern US fictions often grow preoccupied by tantalisation This keyword might seem commonplace thesauruses certainly often lump it in with tease and torment in their general inventories of desire Such lists however mislead Just as most US dictionaries have in fact long recognised tantalise's origins in The Odyssey so they have defined it as the unique desire we feel for objects that like the fruit and water once cruelly placed before Tantalus lie within our reach yet withdraw from our attempts to touch them On these terms American Tantalus shows tantalise not only describes a particular kind of thwarted desire but also one that dominates modern US fiction to a remarkable extent For this term specifically evokes the yearning to touch alienated or virginal objects that we find examined by F Scott Fitzgerald Toni Cade Bambara Richard Wright and Toni Morrison and it also indicates the insatiable pursuit of the horizon so important to Willa Cather and Edith Wharton among others This eclectic canon indeed prefers the dictionary to the thesaurus unreachable destinations and untouched commodities here indeed tantalise inviting gestures of inquiry from which they then recoil This focus while lodging cycles of tantalisation at the very heart of American myth holds profound implications for our understanding of modernity and in particular of the cultural genesis of the commodity as a form

Call If You Need Me Raymond Carver, 2016-01-28 When he died in August 1988 Raymond Carver had just published what were thought to be his last stories in the collection entitled Elephant and his own collection of stories Where I'm Calling from Five previously unpublished stories have recently been discovered and this new volume brings together all of his uncollected fiction including a fragment of an unfinished novel five early stories and all of his non-fiction prose Three of these late found stories are fine examples of Carver's late open style while two date from his middle period The non-fiction prose includes all of his essays together with occasional commentary on his own fiction and poetry writings on the American short story and reviews of work by his contemporaries among them Donald Barthelme

Richard Brautigan Jim Harrison Thomas McGuane and Richard Ford Also included is Carver s latest essay Friendship about a London reunion with Richard Ford and Tobias Wolff Call If You Need Me takes us into Carver s workshop and alongside All of Us The Collected Poems and Where I m Calling from The Selected Stories completes the picture of one of the most original writers in the English language of his generation
