A Philosophy of Second Language Acquisition Marysia Johnson, 2008-10-01

How does a person learn a second language? In this provocative book, Marysia Johnson proposes a new model of second language acquisition (SLA), a model that shifts the focus from language competence (the ability to pass a language exam) to language performance (using language competently in real life contexts). Johnson argues that current SLA theory and research is heavily biased in the direction of the cognitive and experimental scientific tradition. She shows that most models of SLA are linear in nature and subscribe to the conduit metaphor of knowledge transfer: the speaker encodes a message, the hearer decodes the sent message. Such models establish a strict demarcation between learners' mental and social processes. Yet the origin of second language acquisition is located not exclusively in the learner's mind but also in a dialogical interaction conducted in a variety of sociocultural and institutional settings, says the author. Drawing on Vygotsky's sociocultural theory and Bakhtin's literary theory, she constructs an alternative framework for second language theory, research, teaching, and testing. This approach directs attention toward the investigation of dynamic and dialectical relationships between the interpersonal social plane and the intrapersonal individual plane. Johnson's model shifts the focus of SLA away from a narrow emphasis on language competence toward a broader view that encompasses the interaction between language competence and performance.

Original and controversial: A Philosophy of Second Language Acquisition offers an introduction to Vygotsky's sociocultural theory and Bakhtin's literary theory, both of which support an alternative framework for second language acquisition; an examination of the existing cognitive bias in SLA theory and research; a radically new model of second language acquisition.

Second Language Acquisition Susan M. Gass, 2013-08-21

Now in a fourth edition, this bestselling introductory textbook remains the cornerstone volume for the study of second language acquisition (SLA). Its chapters have been fully updated and reorganized where appropriate to provide a comprehensive yet accessible overview of the field and its related disciplines. To reflect current developments, new sections on using learner corpora, semantics and morphosyntax within formal approaches to SLA, sociocultural approaches, gesture priming research, and chaos theory have been added. Students will also find expanded discussions of heritage language learning, bilingualism, pragmatics, and much more. The redesigned fourth edition of Second Language Acquisition retains the features that students found useful in the current edition but also provides new pedagogical tools that encourage students to reflect upon the experiences of second language learners. As with previous editions, discussion questions and problems at the end of each chapter help students apply their knowledge, and a glossary defines and reinforces must-know terminology. This clearly written, comprehensive, and current textbook by expert Sue Gass is the ideal textbook for the introductory SLA course in second language studies, applied linguistics, linguistics, TESOL, and language education programs The Acquisition of Sociolinguistic Competence in a Study Abroad Context Vera Regan, Martin Howard, Isabelle Lemée, 2009 Drawing on cross sectional and longitudinal analyses of a range of sociolinguistic variables in L2 French this volume explores the relationship between study abroad and the acquisition of sociolinguistic variation patterns by the advanced second language learner Linguistics and Language Behavior Abstracts ,2008-02
