Local elections and consumption insurance : evidence from Chinese villages Li Gan, 2007 Abstract While the literature on consumption insurance is growing fast little research has been conducted on how rural consumption insurance is affected by democracy In this paper the authors examine how consumption insurance of Chinese rural residents is affected if the local leader is democratically elected Exploring a unique panel data set of 1 400 households from 1987 to 2002 they find that consumption insurance is more complete when the households are in villages with elected village leaders Furthermore democracy improves consumption insurance only for the poor and middle income farmers but not for the rich These findings underline the importance of democratic governance for ensuring better rural consumption insurance and poverty reduction Does Deposit Insurance Increase Banking System Stability? Asl? Demirgüç-Kunt, Enrica Detragiache, 1999 Explicit deposit insurance tends to be detrimental to bank stability the more so where bank interest rates are deregulated and the institutional environment is weak Cover The Insurance Herald, 1905 Unemployment Insurance and Duration of Unemployment Milan Vodopivec, 1995 Living and Working in America David Hampshire, 2006 Written in an entertaining style with a touch of humor this resource is designed to provide newcomers with the practical information necessary for a relatively trouble free life in America It is packed with vital information and insider tips to help minimize culture shock and reduce the newcomers rookie period to a minimum

Global Marketplace for Private Health Insurance Alexander S. Preker, Peter Zweifel, Onno P. Schellekens, 2009-11-18 Financial protection against the cost of illness and inclusion of vulnerable groups will require better mobilization and use of private means Private voluntary health insurance already plays an important role in mobilizing additional resources to the health sector and protecting against the catastrophic cost of illness in some countries This review explores the context under which private voluntary health insurance could contribute to an improvement in the sustainability of the health sector and financial protection in other countries Financing Health Care Mingshan Lu, 2008-02-04 Discussing international issues of health care financing this is the first volume in a completely new public health book series edited by the Institute of Health Economics IHE in Edmonton Canada Starting with various funding methods the reference also features sections on different health care payment and purchasing mechanisms as well as equity issues Of interest to medical and allied health professionals and those working in health care industries insurance and economics Insurance Within the Firm Luigi Guiso, Luigi Pistaferri, Fabiano Schivardi, 2001 The Insurance Observer, 1916 Insurance World, 1894 Limited Insurance Portability and Job Mobility Jonathan Gruber, Brigitte C. Madrian, 1993 The link between health insurance and the workplace in the U S has led to concern over the possibility of insurance induced reductions in job mobility or job lock Designing health insurance reforms which retain employer based insurance coverage but mitigate the extent of job lock requires an understanding of the policy dimensions to which job lock is most receptive We study a policy of limited insurance portability which has been adopted by a number of states and the federal government over the last 20 years These continuation of coverage mandates grant individuals the right to continue purchasing health insurance through their former employers for some period of time after leaving their jobs We find that the passage of these mandates caused a significant increase in the job mobility of prime age male workers This suggests that a sizeable share of job lock arises from short run concerns over portability rather than from long run problems Insurance Opinion, 1896 The Weekly Underwriter Alasco Delancey Brigham, Henry Rogers Hayden, 1910 The Business of Insurance Howard Potter Dunham, 1912
