Race After Technology Ruha Benjamin, 2019-07-09 From everyday apps to complex algorithms Ruha Benjamin cuts through tech industry hype to understand how emerging technologies can reinforce White supremacy and deepen social inequity Benjamin argues that automation far from being a sinister story of racist programmers scheming on the dark web has the potential to hide speed up and deepen discrimination while appearing neutral and even benevolent when compared to the racism of a previous era Presenting the concept of the New Jim Code she shows how a range of discriminatory designs encode inequity by explicitly amplifying racial hierarchies by ignoring but thereby replicating social divisions or by aiming to fix racial bias but ultimately doing quite the opposite Moreover she makes a compelling case for race itself as a kind of technology designed to stratify and sanctify social injustice in the architecture of everyday life This illuminating guide provides conceptual tools for decoding tech promises with sociologically informed skepticism In doing so it challenges us to question not only the technologies we are sold but also the ones we ourselves manufacture Visit the book s free Discussion Guide www.dropbox.com

Surveillance Education Nolan Higdon, Allison Butler, 2024-08-02 Surveillance Education explores the pervasive use of digital surveillance technologies in schools and assesses its pernicious effects on students Recognizing that the use of digital technologies will persist the authors instead offer practical ways to ameliorate their impact In our era of surveillance capitalism digital media technologies are ever more intertwined into the educational process Schools are presented with digital technologies as tools of convenience for gathering and grading student work as tools of support to foster a more equitable learning environment and as tools of safety for predicting or preventing violence or monitoring mental emotional and physical health Despite a dearth of evidence to confirm their effectiveness digital data collection and tracking is often presented as a way to improve educational outcomes and safety This book challenges these fallacious assumptions and argues that the use of digital media technologies has caused great harm to students by subjecting them to oppressive levels of surveillance impinging upon their right to privacy and harvesting their personal data on behalf of Big Tech. In doing so the authors draw upon interviews from K 12 and higher education students, teachers and staff, civil rights and technology lawyers and educational technological programmers. The authors also provide practical guidance for teachers, administrators, students and their families seeking to identify and combat surveillance in education. This urgent eye-opening book will be of interest to students and educators with interests in critical media literacy and pedagogy and the sociology of technology and education.
