Measuring the economy's performance

The simple circular flow

The concept of the circular flow of income involves two principles:

1. In every economic exchange, the seller receives exactly the same amount that buyer spends.
2. Good and services flow in one direction and money payments flow in the other.
3. Product market: transactions in which household buy goods.
4. Factor market: transactions in which businesses buy resources.

National Income Accounting

- National income accounting:
 - A measurement system used to estimate national income and its components.
- Gross Domestic Product (GDP)
 - The total market value of all final goods and services produced by factors of production located within a nation's border within one year.
 - GDP measures the currency value of final goods and services produced per year by factors of production located within a nation's borders in one year.
- Final good and services
 - Goods and services that are at their final stage of production and will not be transformed into yet other goods and services.
- Intermediate goods
 - Goods used up entirely in the production of final goods.

Numerous transactions occur that have nothing to do with final goods and services being produced:

1. Financial transactions:
 - Securities: stocks and bonds, government transfer payments; social security /unemployment compensation
 - Private transfer payments: individual gifts/ corporate gifts
