War and Aesthetics Jens Bjerling, Anders Engberg-Pedersen, Solveig Gade, Christine Strandmose Toft, 2024-06-18 A provocative edited collection that takes an original approach toward the black box of military technology surveillance and AI and reveals the aesthetic dimension of warfare War and Aesthetics gathers leading artists political scientists and scholars to outline the aesthetic dimension of warfare and offer a novel perspective on its contemporary character and the construction of its potential futures Edited by a team of four scholars Jens Bjerling Anders Engberg Pedersen Solveig Gade and Christine Strandmose Toft this timely volume examines warfare through the lens of aesthetics arguing that the aesthetic configurations of perception technology and time are central to the artistic engagement with warfare just as they are key to military AI weaponry and satellite surveillance People mostly think of war as the violent manifestation of a political rationality But when war is viewed through the lens of aesthesis meaning perception and sensibility military technology becomes an applied science of sensory cognition An outgrowth of three war seminars that took place in Copenhagen between 2018 and 2021 War and Aesthetics engages in three main areas of inquiry the rethinking of aesthetics in the field of art and in the military sphere the exploration of techno aesthetics and the wider political and theoretical implications of war technology and finally the analysis of future temporalities that these technologies produce The editors gather various traditions and perspectives ranging from literature to media studies to international relations creating a unique historical and scientific approach that broadly traces the entanglement of war and aesthetics across the arts social sciences and humanities from ancient times to the present As international conflict looms between superpowers War and Aesthetics presents new and illuminating ways to think about future conflict in a world where violence is only ever a few

 Kasper Drazewski, 2024-01-19 Can we regulate something that doesn't exist yet Can Europe create its own Silicon Valley Who gets to create technological value in today's world Whatever happened to the once flourishing idea of rags to riches Will new and exciting innovations only ever come from big tech companies Can the EU establish its own flexible framework for boosting innovation e.g. by facilitating the transformative use of technologies and data This book seeks to answer these questions by exploring the differences in copyright culture in Europe and the United States with its flexible fair use framework The findings are anything but obvious and decades of case law on both sides of the Atlantic tell a story of judges going to great lengths to deal with new challenges while navigating the imperfections of statutory law both where it is too broadly formulated and where it is too prescriptive How can the population's creative potential best be fostered What do software innovations have in common with the evolution of living organisms What are the vulnerabilities of distributed creativity Answers are sought in the processes that came into being during the early years of the digital revolution and were then forced to take a back seat as control of the means of production was increasingly placed in the hands of tech companies The findings and insights presented here are highly relevant for today's digital policymaking Market concentration processes in innovation haven't ceased they are ongoing And in an age where data driven services are creating and reinforcing global oligopolies the question posed by the U.S. Supreme Court in Google v Oracle is now more relevant than ever who should hold
