Ghosts in the Dating App Machine

Gregory Narr, 2025-10-28 Ghosts in the Dating App Machine offers a critical examination of the shift to dating apps to illustrate key features of a broader shift to a mode of data colonialism based on datafication and AI orchestration. This book analyses 48 in-depth and mediated interviews, forums, blogs, and official statements made by dating apps. It situates this transition within the broader culture of data colonialism through close readings of science fiction, suggesting the world has become like Us, where doppelgängers constituted from reprehensible proclivities have emerged as digital profiles reflected back to users through the horrific play of social media mirrors to govern their encounters against their wishes. These mirrors allow media companies to conduct surreptitious experiments on users, dispossessed desires, devise digital doppelgängers from those they disavow, and compel behaviors that are lucrative precisely because they are misaligned with humane values. Yet this horrific play of mirrors is not inevitable. By attending to the ghosts of colonialism unleashed by media companies through the approach developed in this book, it is still possible to galvanize the collective will to combat data colonialism and strive to create a world where love disentangled from colonial modes of desire is possible. This study will interest scholars attempting to understand the rapidly evolving ecology of dating apps within the areas of digital media, media sociology, cultural studies, anthropology, and media and communication studies. These Strange New Minds Christopher Summerfield, 2025-03-11 An insider look at the Large Language Models (LLMs) that are revolutionizing our relationship to technology, exploring their surprising history, what they can and should do for us today, and where they will go in the future, from an AI pioneer and neuroscientist. In this accessible, up-to-date and authoritative examination of the world's most radical technology, neuroscientist and AI researcher Christopher Summerfield explores what it really takes to build a brain from scratch. We have entered a world in which disarmingly human-like chatbots such as ChatGPT, Claude, and Bard appear to be able to talk and reason like us and are beginning to transform everything we do. But can AI think, know, and understand? What are its values? Whose biases is it perpetuating? Can it lie, and if so, could we tell? Does their arrival threaten our very existence? These Strange New Minds charts the evolution of intelligent talking machines and provides us with the tools to understand how they work and how we can use them. Ultimately armed with an understanding of AI's mysterious inner workings, we can begin to grapple with the existential question of our age: have we written ourselves out of history, or is a technological utopia ahead?

Resurgent

Julian Birkinshaw, John Fallon, 2025-07-17 A practical handbook examining how established businesses can use their unique advantages to fight back and win in a digital arena too often dominated by tech start-ups, disruptors, and unicorns. The big tech companies—Alphabet, Amazon, Apple, Meta, Microsoft—have had an enormous impact on our everyday lives. A new wave of start-ups in the tech sector has dominated the press and swallowed up huge amounts of investment. But what about those established companies in the traditional parts of the world's economies, from energy, industrial, and consumer goods to travel and health? They rarely got a mention. Everyone was talking about the disrupters the start ups and the entrepreneurs and not about the incumbents This book is a call for a reality check For at the core of our established companies are capabilities and qualities that remain highly relevant in the digital age They are often market leaders for very good reasons they know their customers and markets well and they have great product sales and marketing expertise They are operationally savvy and financially strong with deep insights into areas of expertise that no one else has giving them a unique advantage John Fallon and Julian Birkinshaw have come to a clear conclusion incumbents are not going quietly into that dark night Organizations will need to jettison their analogue baggage and infrastructure and embrace digital transformation They will survive and they will prosper And this shows how they are doing it Educational Times ,1916 Introduction to Information Systems R.
