Changing Representations of Nature and the City Gabriel N. Gee, Alison Vogelaar, 2018-07-04 The turn of the 1960s-70s characterized by the rapid acceleration of globalization prompted a radical transformation in the perception of urban and natural environments The urban revolution and related prospect of the total urbanisation of the planet in concert with rapid population growth and resource exploitation instigated a surge in environmental awareness and activism One implication of this moment is a growing recognition of the integration and interconnection of natural and urban entities The present collection is an interdisciplinary inquiry into the changing modes of representation of nature in the city beginning from the turn of the 1960s-70s Bringing together a number of different disciplinary approaches including architectural studies and aesthetics heritage studies and economics environmental science and communication the collection reflects upon the changing perception of socio-natures in the context of increasing urban expansion and global interconnectedness as they were manifest in specific representations Using case studies from around the globe the collection offers a historical and theoretical understanding of a paradigmatic shift whose material and symbolic legacies are still accompanying us in the early 21st century

Mallgrave,2009-07-13 Modern Architectural Theory is the first book to provide a comprehensive survey of architectural theory primarily in Europe and the United States during three centuries of development In this synthetic overview Harry Mallgrave examines architectural discourse within its social and political context He explores the philosophical and conceptual evolution of its ideas discusses the relation of theory to the practice of building and most importantly considers the words of the architects themselves as they contentiously shaped Western architecture He also examines the compelling currents of French rationalist and British empiricist thought radical reformation of the theory during the Enlightenment the intellectual ambitions and historicist debates of the nineteenth century and the distinctive varieties of modern theory in the twentieth century up to the profound social upheaval of the 1960s Modern Architectural Theory challenges many assumptions about architectural modernism and uncovers many new dimensions of the debates about modernism The Moulton Bicycle Bruce D. Salmon,2008-12-15 In this beautifully illustrated volume fifteen distinguished writers on architecture mark the retirement of Professor David Watkin from the University of Cambridge Linked by the common theme of classicism the chapters are divided into three sections The first is concerned with architectural ideas and includes essays on Renaissance interpretations of Vitruvius Roman Catholic Chapels in post Reformation London and architectural writers John Summerson and Hope Bagenal The central section deals with aspects of eighteenth and nineteenth century Neo classicism and includes new work on Marie Joseph Peyre Charles Barry and C R Cockerell The final section is devoted to studies of classicism and the Picturesque in the twentieth century Ruskin & Architecture Rebecca Daniels,Geoffrey K. Brandwood,2003 John Ruskin exerted a powerful and pervading influence on architects and architecture in the nineteenth century and his legacy can still be felt today His highly individual and idiosyncratic prose encouraged the lay person to look and think about architecture and he covered strands as diverse as the choice of style the use of polychromy the relations between the workman and his work and even between politics and the arts In this book leading experts in Ruskin and architectural history re examine these and numerous other issues often providing wholly new insights into the man his writings and his influence upon architecture and the cultural landscape of his day and since The essays that make up this substantial and richly illustrated book shed new and revealing light on the wide ranging and profound influence of this great writer and thinker on architecture Archis ,2003 Wilhelmine Germany and Edwardian Britain Dominik Geppert,Robert Gerwarth,2008 This collection of essays sheds new light on Anglo German relations during the turbulent decades before the outbreak of the Great War Written by leading historians the book demonstrates that Anglo German relations before 1914 were characterized not only by rivalry and antagonism but also by a remarkable degree of mutual admiration and cultural cross fertilization Design Issues ,2014
