Sacred Aid Faith And Humanitarianism:

Sacred Aid Michael Barnett, Janice Stein, 2012-08-16 How and why did this happen and what does it mean for humanitarianism writ large Faith, Secularism, and Humanitarian Engagement: Finding the Place of Religion in the Support of Displaced Communities Joey Ager, 2015-09-03 Strengthening local humanitarian engagement demands not only rethinking dominant understandings of religion but also revisiting the principles and practices of humanitarianism This book articulates key aspects of the transborder discourse necessary for humanitarian dialogue in the 21st century

Faith-Based Organizations in Transnational Peacebuilding Tanya B. Schwarz, 2018-03-23 How do faith based organizations influence the work of transnational peacebuilding development and human rights advocacy How is the political role of such organizations informed by their religious ideas and practices This book investigates this set of questions by examining how three transnational faith based organizations Religions for Peace the Taiz Community and International Justice Mission conceptualize their own religious practices values and identities and how those acts and ideas inform their political goals and strategies The book demonstrates the political importance of prayer in the work of transnational faith based organizations specifically in areas of conflict resolution post conflict integration agenda setting and in constituting narratives about justice and reconciliation It also evaluates the distinctive strategies that faith based organizations employ to navigate religious difference A central goal of the book is to propose a new way to study religion in international politics by actively questioning and reflecting on what it means for an act idea or community to be religious Secular and Religious Dynamics in Humanitarian Response Olivia J. Wilkinson, 2019-11-28 This book investigates the ways in which the humanitarian system is secular and understands religious beliefs and practices when responding to disasters The book teases out the reasons why humanitarians are reluctant to engage with what are seen as messy cultural dynamics within the communities they work with and how this can lead to strained or broken relationships with disaster affected populations and irrelevant and inappropriate disaster assistance that imposes distant and relatively meaningless values In order to interrogate secular boundaries within humanitarian response the book draws particularly on qualitative primary data from the aftermath of Typhoon Haiyan in the Philippines The case study shows how religious practices and beliefs strongly influenced people's disaster experience yet humanitarian organisations often failed to recognise or engage with this Whilst secularity in the humanitarian system does not completely exclude religious participation and expression it does create biases and boundaries Many humanitarians view their secularity as essential to their position of impartiality and cultural sensitivity in comparison to what were seen as the biased and unprofessional beliefs and practices of religions and religious actors even though disaster affected people felt that it was the secular humanitarians that were less impartial and culturally sensitive This empirically driven examination of the role of secularity within humanitarianism will be of interest to the growing field of pracademic researchers across NGOs government consultancy and think tanks as well as researchers working directly within academic institutions

Tearfund and the Quest for Faith-Based Development Dena Freeman, 2019-08-19 This book gives an in depth analysis of the role of faith in the work of Tearfund a leading evangelical relief and development NGO that works in over 50 countries worldwide The study traces the changing ways that faith has shaped and influenced Tearfund s work over the organisation s 50 year history It shows how Tearfund has consciously grappled with the role of faith in its work and has invested considerable time and energy in developing an intentionally faith based approach t relief and development that in several ways is quite different to the approaches of secular relief and development NGOs The book charts the different perspectives and possibilities that were not taken and the internal discussions about theology development practices and humanitarian standards that took place as Tearfund worked out for itself what it meant to be a faith based relief and development organisation There is a growing academic literature about religion and development as well as increasing interest from development ministries of many Northern governments in understanding the role of religion in development and the specific challenges and benefits involved in working with faith based organisations However there are very few studies of actual faith based organisations and no book length detailed studies showing how such an organisation operates in practice and how it integrates its faith into its work In documenting the story of Tearfund the book provides important insights into the practice and ethos of faith based organisations which will be of interest to other FBOs and to researchers of religion and development
