

Business Structures

Below is a list of business structures to choose from when forming your West Virginia business. Also, try our Business Structure Comparison Chart as a quick reference tool.

Sole Proprietorship

The simplest and most common form of business structure is the sole proprietorship. In a sole proprietorship, a single individual owns the business and engages in a business activity without creating a legal entity. However, the owner assumes all the risks of the business. The individual owner is personally responsible for the debts and obligations of the business.

Earnings are generally taxed as personal income for the owner. There is no filing requirement with the Secretary of State's Office, however, a business registration must be filed with the State Tax Department.

General Partnership

A general partnership is created when two or more persons associate to carry on a business for profit. Again, there is no Secretary of State filing requirement to form this type of entity. A partnership generally operates in accordance with a partnership agreement to delineate the responsibilities of each partner. The partnership agreement need not be filed with the State and there is no requirement that the agreement be written.

The partners own the assets of a partnership jointly. Each partner is personally liable for the actions of the other partners including business debts, taxes and tort liability. Earnings are generally taxed as personal income to each partner. There is no filing with the Secretary of State's Office, however, a business registration must be filed with the State Tax Department.

Joint Venture

A joint venture is a general partnership typically formed to undertake a particular business transaction or project and is intended to exist for a limited time period. A joint venture is created with a specific project in mind and generally dissolves once the project has been completed. Members of the joint venture are exposed to full legal liability.

A joint venture is treated like a partnership for federal income tax purposes. Partners in a joint venture can be recognized as an ongoing partnership if they continue the venture, but they must file as such. There is no filing requirement with the Secretary of State's Office, however, a business registration must be filed with the State Tax Department.

Association

An association is a group of persons with a specific purpose and is generally treated as a corporation. There is no filing requirement with the Secretary of State's Office; however, a business registration must be filed with the State Tax Department.
