Visions of Artificial Intelligence Stefan Raß,2021-03-30 Master s Thesis from the year 2019 in the subject Computer Sciences Artificial Intelligence grade 1 University of Vienna language English abstract Artificial Intelligence AI is often considered to be one of the defining technologies which will be important in shaping the prosperity and power dynamics of the twenty first century In the last five years many governments around the world tried to implement policies that are intended to foster AI innovation in order to position themselves as leaders in a space that is thought to be the next global paradigm shift Europe and the United States are thought leaders in this field and have published policy documents aimed at deliberating the future progress of AI and defining national policies or research strategies which should serve as signposts for subsequent decisions Research in Science Technology Society STS studies has shown how sociotechnical imaginaries shape the ways emerging technologies are assessed evaluated and regulated in differing political cultures They inform the visions that make certain options possible specific outcomes plausible and leave other avenues for policy dormant This thesis explores these imaginaries found in policy documents connected to regulatory attitudes towards AI and the social changes linked to this emerging technology in the United States and Europe along three dimensions First the dominant visions images and ideals associated with the technological innovation in AI Second the expectations of benefits and risks projected onto AI And third the imagined role of governance of AI in the policy documents as well as how society is imagined to be part of the assessment development and regulation The thesis suggests that AI offers a new and rich window into regulatory imaginaries in a specific moment of technological emergence Some of the uncovered attitudes towards AI are reflected in imaginaries connected to previous technologies however AI constitutes a novel moment of emergence that links to unique attitudes to regulating self learning algorithmic intelligence

The Double Black Box

Ashley S. Deeks,2025 National security decisions pose a paradox they are among the most consequential a government can make but are generally the least transparent to the democratic public The black box nature of national security decision making driven by extensive classification and characterized by difficulty overseeing executive actions has expanded in the United States as executive power continues to grow The rise of artificial intelligence AI systems to enhance national security decision making or even to make autonomous decisions deepens this challenge because it is difficult to understand how AI algorithms often described as black boxes reach their conclusions The widespread use of AI inside the national security ecosystem renders U S national security choices even more opaque to the public congressional overseers U S allies and even the executive officials making the decisions How can we be confident that the U S government s use of these AI systems comports with our values including rationality lawfulness and accountability The Double Black Box National Security Artificial Intelligence and the Struggle for Democratic Accountability addresses these pressing challenges Because China is committed to becoming the world leader in AI and faces fewer legal and values based constraints on its pursuit of military AI democracies commitment to using AI in lawful and ethical ways will be tested This book defines and explores the double black box phenomenon and then identifies ways that policymakers military and intelligence officials and lawyers in democratic states such as the United States can reap the advantages of advanced technologies without surrendering their public law values
