The Right To Higher Education Beyond Widening Participation Foundations And Futures Of Education:

The Right to Higher Education Penny Jane Burke, 2013-06-19 The landscape of higher education has undergone change and transformation in recent years partly as a result of diversification and massification However persistent patterns of under representation continue to perplex policy makers and practitioners raising questions about current strategies policies and approaches to widening participation Presenting a comprehensive review and critique of contemporary widening participation policy and practice Penny Jane Burke interrogates the underpinning assumptions values and perspectives shaping current concepts and understandings of widening participation She draws on a range of perspectives within the field of the sociology of education including feminist post structuralism critical pedagogy and policy sociology to examine the ways in which wider societal inequalities and misrecognitions which are related to difference and diversity present particular challenges for the project to widen participation in higher education In particular the book focuses on the themes of difference and diversity to shed light on the operations of inequalities and the politics of access and participation both in terms of national and institutional policy and at the level of student and practitioner experience draws on the insights of the sociology of education to consider not only the patterns of under representation in higher education but also the politics of mis representation critiquing key discourses of widening participation interrogates assumptions behind WP policy and practice including assumptions about education being an unassailable good provides an analysis of the accounts and perspectives of students practitioners and policy makers through in depth interviews observations and reflective journal entries offers insights for future developments in the policy practice and strategies for widening participation The book will be of great use to all those working in and researching Higher Education The Timescapes of Teaching in Higher Education Penny Jane Burke, Catherine Manathunga, 2023-06-20 The chapters in this book grapple in varying ways with Barbara Adam s concept of timescapes which provides a powerful metaphor that extends the imagery of landscapes to enable an understanding of time as entwined with space conceptually drawn and constituted experientially Space time is deeply relational contextual and experiential forming overarching narratives of higher education its purpose and its future As timescapes become in visibilised and subsumed in various ways and in different contexts into hegemonic discourses of individual responsibility and choice new temporal framings must then be carefully re negotiated and self managed by students and teachers The chapters thus draw on theoretical and empirical contributions to examine intersecting pressures and im possibilities across different timescapes in higher education This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Teaching in Higher Education Understanding Experiences of First Generation University Students Amani Bell, Lorri J. Santamaría, 2018-02-22 Over the past few decades universities have opened their doors to students whose parents and grandparents were historically excluded from societal participation and higher education for reasons associated with racial ethnic socio economic and or linguistic diversity Many of these students are first generation or first in their family to attend university While some progress has been made in responding to the needs of these internationally underserved learners many challenges remain This edited book features the unique and diverse experiences of first generation students as they transition into and engage with higher education whilst exploring ways in which universities might better serve these students With reference to culturally responsive and sustaining research methodologies undertaken in Australia Canada New Zealand South Africa the UK and the USA the contributors critically examine how these students demonstrate resilience within university and ways in which success and challenges are articulated Elements that are unique to context and shared across the international higher education milieu are explored The book is replete with diverse student voices and compelling implications for practice and future research The studies featured are centred on underlying theories of identity and intersectionality while valuing student voices and experiences Throughout the emphasis is on using strengths based indigenous and decolonised methodologies Through these culturally sustaining approaches which include critical incident technique participatory learning and action talanoa and narrative inquiry the book explores rich data on first generation student experiences at seven institutions in six countries across four continents

Discerning Critical Hope in Educational Practices Vivienne Bozalek, Brenda Leibowitz, Ronelle Carolissen, Megan Boler, 2013-12-04 How can discerning critical hope enable us to develop innovative forms of teaching learning and social practices that begin to address issues of marginalization privilege and access across different contexts At this millennial point in history questions of cynicism despair and hope arise at every turn especially within areas of research into social justice and the struggle for transformation in education While a sense of fatalism and despair is easily recognizable establishing compelling bases for hope is more difficult This book addresses the absence of sustained analyses of hope that simultaneously recognize the hard edges of why we despair The volume posits the notion of critical hope not only as conceptual and theoretical but also as an action oriented response to despair Our notion of critical hope is used in two ways it is used firstly as a unitary concept which cannot be disaggregated into either hopefulness or criticality and secondly as an analytical concept where critical hope is engaged and diversely theorized in ways that recognize aspects of individual and collective directions of critical hope The book is divided into four sub sections Critical Hope in Education Critical Hope and a Critique of Neoliberalism Critical Race Theory Postcolonial Perspectives on Critical Hope Philosophical Overviews of Critical Hope Education can be a purveyor of critical hope but it also requires critical hope so that it as a sector itself can be transformative With contributions from international experts in the field the book will be of value to all academics and practitioners working in the field of education

Understanding the University Ronald Barnett, 2015-12-22 Understanding the University constitutes the final volume in a trilogy the first two books having been Being a University 2010 and Imagining the University 2012 and represents the trilogy s ultimate aims and endeavours The three volumes together offer a unique attempt at a fairly systematic and exhaustive level to map out just what it might be seriously to understand the extraordinarily complex entity that is known across the world as the university Through examination of the conditions and possibilities underlying and affecting universities this work offers an understanding of specific ideas of the university which can inform policies strategies and practices in relation to the university This book is a must read for leaders and senior managers in universities as well as those undertaking postgraduate studies in the policy and practice of higher education

Lifespan Transitions and Disability Iva Strnadová, Therese M. Cumming, 2015-09-07 This book brings a refreshing perspective to preparing students with disabilities and their families for all aspects of independent life Many of the transitions experienced by younger children set the stage for future changes yet do not receive the attention they deserve in the literature This publication offers a strengths based approach that includes philosophical perspectives and evidence based practices to assist this vulnerable population with lifespan changes and challenges Each chapter addresses transitional needs and their assessment and relevant interventions from the perspectives of an application to schools families and communities Multicultural perspectives are integral to all these chapters The book covers transition from home to early childhood education early childhood education to primary school primary school to secondary school primary school to special settings juvenile justice settings back into the community school to work school to further education or training post school settings to retirement Lifespan Transitions and Disability A holistic perspective is a necessary companion for postgraduate education students and researchers who have an interest in exploring the nature and context of special and inclusive education today

Religion in the Primary School Peter Hemming, 2015-02-20 Religion and its relationship to schooling is an issue that has become more and more topical in recent years In many countries developments such as the diversification of state school sectors concerns about social cohesion between ethnic and religious groups and debates about national identity and values have raised old and new questions about the role of religion in education Whilst the significance of this issue has been reflected in renewed interest from the academic community much of this work has continued to be based around theoretical or pedagogical debates and stances rather than evidence based empirical research This book aims to address this gap by exploring the social and political role of religion in the context of the primary school Drawing on original ethnographic research with a child centred orientation comparisons are drawn between Community and Roman Catholic primary schools situated within a multi faith urban area in the UK In doing so the study explores a number of ways in which religion has the potential to contribute to everyday school life including through school ethos and values inter pupil relations community cohesion and social identity and difference At the centre of the analysis are two key sociological debates about the significance of religion in late modern societies The first is concerned with the place of religion in public life and the influence of secularisation and post secularism on the relationship between religion and schooling The second relates to the increasingly multi faith nature of many national populations and the implications for religious citizenship in educational settings Religion in the Primary School will be a useful resource for academics researchers and students as a key addition to existing knowledge in the disciplines of education sociology and human geography It will also be of value to both policy makers and educationalists interested in the role of religion in schools and the implications for the wider community and society in a range of national contexts Beyond Economic Interests Keiko Yasukawa, Stephen Black, 2016-02-10 Over the last two decades an increasingly economic discourse has dominated discussions about adult literacy and numeracy This book provides critiques of and alternative narratives to the dominant discourse Authors provide tools and methodologies of critique including ways of seeing how policies in the countries of focus come to be captured almost completely by the interests of business and industry as well as how to critically interpret the data that policy makers use to justify their priorities But adult literacy and numeracy practitioners and learners find spaces and places to pursue learning that matters for the lived experiences of adults and their communities Beyond Economic Interests presents the struggles and achievements of practitioners and learners that lead the readers of the book to critically appreciate that a counter narrative to the purely economic discourse of adult literacy and numeracy is much needed and possible New Frontiers for College Education Jim Gallacher, Fiona Reeve, 2018-08-06 The college sector is facing a growing number of new challenges caused by technological change globalisation and the growth of mass higher education New Frontiers for College Education considers the impact these changes have had and explores the developing role of college education in countries throughout the world Whilst analysing the issues associated with providing high quality vocational education and training the book also reflects on the role of colleges in widening access to both further and higher education Drawing together contributions from leading international academics policymakers and practitioners the book explores common themes across these diverse societies as well as some of the key challenges experienced within individual countries It considers the distinctive contributions that colleges can make in responding to these challenges through apprenticeships and other types of vocational education and training Contributors discuss the growing emphasis on creating more integrated systems of tertiary education recognising that colleges and universities are now expected to work more closely together and that these diverse demands can be difficult to reconcile Providing an authoritative and timely analysis of the changing role of colleges in contemporary society this book will be of great interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the areas of further and higher education vocational education and training lifelong learning and skills development It should also be essential reading for policymakers as well as practitioners working in colleges and other institutions of higher and further education

Beyond Mass Higher Education Ian McNay, 2006 This volume looks forward to the next decade of higher education and identifies strategic issues that need to be tackled at institutional and management levels The book considers how far the higher education system has adapted to respond to the requirements of a mass and universal system Current Index to Journals in Education , 2002 Parliamentary Debates (Hansard). The Parliamentary Debates (Hansard). Great Britain. Parliament. House of Lords, 2010 The Politics of Widening Participation and University Access for Young People Valerie Harwood, Anna Hickey-Moody, Samantha McMahon, Sarah O'Shea, 2016-12-01 Young people with tenuous relationships to schooling and education are an enduring challenge when it comes to addressing social inclusion yet their experiences remain overlooked in efforts to widen participation in higher education The Politics of Widening Participation and University Access for Young People examines the existing knowledges and feelings these young people have about higher education and through the authors empirical research demonstrates how sustained connections to educational futures can be created for them Drawing from an empirical study with nearly three hundred young people who have precarious relationships to schooling and live in disadvantaged communities this book offers new insights into their subjects experiences of educational disadvantages It explains the different ways the university is constructed as impossible undesirable or even risky by young people experiencing educational disadvantage The book brings their stories into focus to offer new ways of thinking about the educational consequences of alienation from school It shows how our understanding of the politics of experience of these young people has an important impact on our ability to develop appropriate means through which to engage them in higher education This book challenges and significantly advances the popular frames for international debate on widening participation and the ethical right to educational participation in contemporary society As such it will be of key interest to academics researchers and postgraduate students in the fields of higher education sociology of education anthropology of education cultural studies of education sociology as well as to those concerned by the impact of disadvantage on young people s understandings of and aspirations towards education and attending university British Education Index ,2005 Proceedings of the Parliament of South Australia South Australia.
