Conservation of Cultural Heritage Hanna M. Szczepanowska, 2013-02-15 Conservation of Cultural Heritage covers the methods and practices needed for future museum professionals who will be working in various capacities with museum collections and artifacts. It also assists current professionals in understanding the complex decision making processes that face conservators on a daily basis. The uniqueness of this book lies in correlating the aspects of material science and the behaviour of artifacts in a museum environment. It will be of special benefit to museum professionals not trained in conservation. Covering a broad range of topics that are key to sound conservation in the museum, Conservation of Cultural Heritage is an important tool for students and professionals alike in ensuring that best practice is followed in the preservation of important collections.

Cultural Heritage Interpretation: Problems and Proposals for the Medieval Churches in the Walled City of Famagusta, Northern Cyprus Dr. Narmin Babazadeh Asbagh, 2024-12-12 Interpretation has recently become a more focused topic in the cultural heritage conservation field due to the increasing concern about the involvement of the stakeholders and the social pillar of sustainability. As the enhancement of participation of the stakeholders in the conservation processes can be achieved by increasing their awareness and appreciation of cultural heritage sites, interpretation has a considerable role in this process. This research aims to search for methods for developing interpretation approaches for cultural heritage sites through the assessment of the responses of the stakeholders. The churches of the Walled City of Famagusta have been chosen as the case study for this research due to the apparent interpretation problems. Assessment of the responses of the stakeholders is accepted as a tool for developing a better interpretation of the cultural heritage buildings, preventing them from further neglect or possible extinction. This research proposes the advancement of interpretive approaches for similar undervalued and underappreciated sites. There are many abandoned heritage buildings worldwide and due to the lack of function and maintenance, they deteriorate easily and are ruined. Similarly, abandoned valuable religious buildings have faced vandalism deliberately because of the decreasing demand for use or lack of their communities, and many of them have been insufficiently interpreted for their visitors. This research aims to develop an interpretive plan for the churches in the Walled City of Famagusta to overcome their current problems. I would like to acknowledge that this book is the result of several pieces of research such as the published papers presented at international conferences from September 2014 until September 2024 and especially derived from my Ph.D. dissertation entitled Interpretation Problems and Proposals for the Churches in the Walled City of Famagusta under the supervision of Associate Professor Dr. Ege Uluçtaş at the Architecture Department, Faculty of Eastern Mediterranean University, Famagusta, Northern Cyprus, defended in July 2023.

Biodeterioration of Cultural Heritage Hanna Szczepanowska, 2023-04-26 Fungi-induced stains on paper are one of the most challenging forms of biodeterioration to study and to prevent. This is because they involve living organisms and the ways in which fungi respond to changes in the environment and modifications of paper are unpredictable.

Yet there is a great desire among those who encounter fungi on documents manuscripts or artwork to remove fungi and clean the paper This experience in most cases is particularly challenging What are the reasons behind this challenge This ground breaking book attempts to answer this question among others by exploring the complex interfacial forces between paper fungi and their pigmented secretions which result in bio stains on paper Black fungi collectively referred to as Dematiaceous fungi were used in this study as a subset of pigment producing fungi species The focus is on two under studied aspects of the fungi infestation of paper an interface of fungal pigments and paper and the impact of light on the production of fungi bio stains The results of analytical testing included in this book elucidate the synergistic interactions between the environment biological clocks of the microorganisms and secretion of fungal pigments to paper The black fungal pigment formation is explored in depth in two scenarios one that is natural when the bio stains of original artworks have occurred over time by chance and another induced by Aspergillus niger in bio simulation on known papers in a controlled environment The findings are intended to provide guidance for preservation strategies mitigating the biodeterioration of paper and designing conservation treatment when applicable The surface of artworks and artifacts is of great aesthetic and artistic importance conversely it plays a significant role in governing fungal attachments In this book the paper surface is characterized in detail and in correlation with chemical and physical alterations caused by fungal pigmentation A broad range of analytical instruments was used for surface characterization such as surface metrology profilometers a confocal laser scanning microscope and environmental scanning electron microscope chemical microanalysis was carried out using X ray energy dispersive spectroscopy The novel three dimensional characterization of pigmented fungal inclusions and their interaction with paper matrix was studied with micro X ray computed micro tomography on the synchrotron ESRF The proposed book is the first to explore the complexity of fungal paper interactions with the intention to assist professionals working with cultural materials especially paper based materials to make informed decisions when dealing with the fungi infestation of paper
