

Basil Bernstein (1972)

- Language is linked to developing understanding and thinking
- There are two language codes:
  - the restricted code
  - the elaborated code

The restricted code

Shorthand speech, short, simple sentences. Has an 'assumed' element to it. Meanings are implicit. Much depends on gesture and expression.

The elaborated code

Detailed, explanatory, illustrative, analytical. Meanings are explicit.

Elaborated and Restricted Codes: Their Social Origins and Some Consequences Basil Bernstein, 1967      Basil Bernstein's Theory of Restricted and Elaborated Codes Véronique Ruelle, 1985      Elaborated and Restricted Codes Basil Bernstein, 1964      Language Proficiency in Native and Non-native Speakers Jan H. Hulstijn, 2015-02-15 This book written for both seasoned and novice researchers presents a theory of what is called Basic and Higher Language Cognition BLC and HLC a theory aimed at making some fundamental issues concerning first and second language learning and bilingualism more empirical The first part of the book provides background for and explication of the theory as well as an agenda for future research while the second part reports on selected studies of language proficiency in native speakers as well as non native speakers and studies of the relationship between literacy in a first and second language Conceptual and methodological problems in measuring language proficiency in research on second language acquisition and bilingualism are also discussed Further the notion of levels of language proficiency as rendered by the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages CEFR is critically examined suggesting ways of empirically investigating a number of questions that the CEFR raises but is not capable of answering      Academic Language In Second Language Learning Christian J. Faltis, M. Beatriz Arias, 2013-03-01 Language in academic settings also referred to as academic language has gained attention in the field of second language learning owing to new understandings of the complexities of language inherent in learning academic content and new efforts to assess English learners language proficiency in the context of school learning The concept of academic language as distinct from social language has been in the academic literature since the mid 1950s and surfaced as a major construct in the field of bilingual education in the 1980s Many readers will be familiar with the ideas of BICS and CALP first introduced by Jim Cummins in the 1980s This book presents a critique of academic language as a separable construct from social language and introduces current research efforts to understand how English learners interact interpret and show understanding of language in academic contexts in ways that re think and go beyond the distinction between social and academic language The book is organized into three main sections each with a range of chapters that consider how academic language plays into how children and youth learn academic content as emergent bilingual students in school settings A Foreward and Afterward offer commentary on the book and its contents The intended audience for this book is graduate students teacher educators and researchers interested in issues of language and content learning for English learners the new mainstream of schools across the nation There is something for a wide range of readers and students of second language acquisition in this volume      A Dialectical Examination of Basil Bernstein's Sociolinguistic Theories Paul Howard Arntson, 1977      Hazards of Applying Research Across Cultures Elizabeth Peretz, 1971      Class and Social Background Discrimination in the Modern Workplace Angelo Capuano, 2025-07-15 This book exposes how inequalities based on class and social background arise from employment practices in the digital age It considers instances where social media is used in recruitment to infiltrate private lives and hide job advertisements based on locality where algorithms assess socio economic data to filter candidates where human interviewers are replaced by artificial intelligence with design that disadvantages users of classed language and where already vulnerable groups become victims of digitalisation and remote work The author examines whether these practices create risks of discrimination based on certain protected attributes including social origin in international labour law and laws in Australia and South Africa social condition and family status in laws within Canada and others The book proposes essential law reform and improvements to workplace policy
