The following notes are relevant:

- (i) On 1 October 2013, Quincy sold one of its products for $10 million (included in revenue in the trial balance). As part of the sale agreement, Quincy is committed to the ongoing servicing of this product until 30 September 2016 (i.e. three years from the date of sale). The value of this service has been included in the selling price of $10 million. The estimated cost to Quincy of the servicing is $600,000 per annum and Quincy's normal gross profit margin on this type of servicing is 25%. Ignore discounting.
- (ii) Quincy issued a $25 million 6% loan on 1 October 2013. Issue costs were $1 million and these have been charged to administrative expenses. Interest is paid annually on 30 September each year. The loan will be redeemed on 30 September 2016 at a premium which gives an effective interest rate on the loan of 8%.

(iii) Non-current assets:

Quincy had been carrying land and buildings at depreciated cost, but due to a recent rise in property prices, it decided to revalue its property on 1 October 2013 to market value. An independent valuer confirmed the value of the property at $60 million (land element $12 million) as at that date and the directors accepted this valuation. The property had a remaining life of 16 years at the date of its revaluation. Quincy will make a transfer from the revaluation reserve to retained earnings in respect of the realisation of the revaluation. Ignore deferred tax on the revaluation.

On 1 October 2013, Quincy had a processing plant installed at a cost of $10 million which is included in the trial balance figure of plant and equipment at cost. The process the plant performs will cause immediate contamination of the nearby land. Quincy will have to decontaminate (clean up) this land at the end of the plant's ten-year life (straight-line depreciation). The present value (discounted at a cost of capital of 10% per annum) of the decontamination is $6 million. Quincy has not made any accounting entries in respect of this cost.

All other plant and equipment is depreciated at 12½% per annum using the reducing balance method.

No depreciation has yet been charged on any non-current asset for the year ended 30 September 2014. All depreciation is charged to cost of sales.

Other than referred to above, there were no acquisitions or disposals of non-current assets.

- (iv) The investments had a fair value of $15.7 million as at 30 September 2014. There were no acquisitions or disposals of these investments during the year ended 30 September 2014.
- (v) The balance on current tax represents the under/over provision of the tax liability for the year ended 30 September 2013. A provision for income tax for the year ended 30 September 2014 of $7.4 million is required. At 30 September 2014, Quincy had taxable temporary differences of $5 million requiring a provision for deferred tax. Any deferred tax adjustment should be reported in profit or loss. The income tax rate of Quincy is 20%.

Required:

- (c) Prepare the statement of financial position of Quincy as at 30 September 2014.

(a) 12 marks

Notes to the financial statements are not required.
