Justice Agendas in Caribbean Higher Education Talia R. Esnard, 2024-09-05 This book offers a treatment of social justice and higher education within small island developing states like the Caribbean This is a timely exploration of some of the global local structure actor policy practice debates that connect directly to the promise and the challenges of pursuing social justice agendas within and beyond Caribbean institutions of higher education In this book the key points of examination are the i changing patterns within the global higher education landscape emerging mandates for university systems ii the perspectives and challenges for diverse student and staff populations and iii the ways in which these collectively impact social justice agendas within institutions of higher education The contextualization and politicization of these issues within the broader discourse of small island developing states deepens the understanding of the prospects and challenges of addressing social injustices within the contemporary landscape but with some re engagement of existing conceptions and theorizations related to inclusivity diversity equity ontology coloniality postcolonial and critical race theory to inform how actors within these institutions can strategically respond It will be vital reading for scholars and educational researchers with interests in higher education social justice and small island developing states SIDS Coworking Spaces Janet

Merkel, Dimitris Pettas, Vasilis Avdikos, 2023-11-07 This contributed volume considers the emergence of coworking as centered in labor issues More specifically its chapters consider it as a coping mechanism in the worldwide rise of independent modes of work i e self employment that leaves more and more workers exposed to precarity as they must organize and manage their own labor Grounded in this perspective this volume aims to understand the transformative social and political potentials emerging through coworking as a social and spatial practice There is a distinct lack of discussion within coworking research on the emancipatory potentials of coworking and if it is discussed more cautionary views prevail highlighting the ambivalence of coworking spaces both as a space of alternative economic practices and as integrated into market economies The aims of this collection are twofold First it aims to make visible the plurality of existing practices around shared resources in coworking and the assemblages of human and non human actors as agents of change associated with coworking and the re organization of work and labor power And second it aims to develop a more emancipatory narrative for coworking and the role of coworking spaces for workers but also the different spatial contexts in which these spaces are situated A narrative that does not emphasize entrepreneurship or coworking as the epitome of the neoliberal entrepreneurial self as in the dominant interpretations in the current research but rather one that centers coworking in the creation of meaningful careful social relationships supporting empathy and an ethics that recognizes mutual interdependencies and builds a foundation for social change So it is about alternative narratives emancipation politics and the wider social role that coworking spaces might play in neighborhoods cities or beyond because they are crucial contexts for the formation and maintenance of social relations With this specific direction this collection aims to bring coworking research into a fruitful dialog with other research fields such as sociology of work feminist perspectives on care alternative and diverse economies post capitalist transformation critical geography positioning coworking within a range of progressive alternatives in the articulation of economic and social relationships areas to embrace the new way of working are the legal ones. However, it is not just the legal firms and public sector which are looking to employment technology in order to cut costs. Almost every type of industry is looking at using technology in order to lower costs and in this way increase profits. For example, restaurants are using recruitment technology in order to lower salaries and costs. Until a few years ago, when every restaurant had a fixed cost of hiring, training and maintenance, the vast majority of restaurants were able to pay 100% of their employees' salaries. This meant that it was possible to pay a manager less than a waiter and save money. However, with the inclusion of recruitment technology, the cost of hiring employees is being cut by up to 50%. This does not necessarily mean that the amount of profit is increased, but employees are able to be assigned to different tasks, meaning that they spend less time in front of customers, thus increasing their profits.
