Chinese Military Modernization And The Future Of Taiwan:

Chinese Military Modernization and the Future of Taiwan Christopher M. Farricker, 2003-12-01 The potential military capabilities of the People's Republic of China PRC carry tremendous implications for the Republic of China ROC on Taiwan The PRC's military modernization efforts are quickly eroding the ROC's qualitative military advantage As the PRC modernizes the possibility for a peaceful reunification diminishes However if it chooses an aggressive solution for reunification the PRC recognizes that it may have to contend with the United States coming to Taiwan's aid This thesis addresses the PRC's efforts to modernize its armed forces Since 1985 Beijing has initiated a dedicated process of preparing the People's Liberation Army PLA to fight future wars Through detailed analysis of U.S. military campaigns in the Middle East and the Balkans the PRC has implemented new doctrine and equipment to help transform the PLA into a superior fighting force As it modernizes the PRC is developing strategies to force Taiwan's reunification with the mainland Also the PRC is developing asymmetric methods to defeat the possible presence of U.S. forces in the Taiwan Strait The modernization of the PLA is dedicated towards achieving both of these goals

Roy, 2011-05-09 Relations across the Taiwan Strait were unstable for decades before May 2008 Several acknowledged crises raised the possibility of war between China and the US and or Taiwan and at times political disputes wracked the US Taiwan relationship Nevertheless the Taiwan Relations Act TRA of 1979 helped maintain peace by deterring coercive actions by China against the island

Assessing the Threat: The Chinese Military and Taiwan's Security , Since at least the early 1950s the entire Asia Pacific region has struggled with the complicated and complex relationship between China and Taiwan today the Taiwan question is considered a potential flashpoint for a much larger international conflict Bringing together experts from the United States and Taiwan Assessing the Threat provides a comprehensive look at the dangers of military escalation in the Taiwan Strait the latest advances in capabilities of the People's Liberation Army and China's security relationship with the United States and the Asia Pacific There is increasing concern that Beijing is steadily shifting the balance of power across the Taiwan Strait in its favor Recent advances in Chinese air and naval power along with changes in PLA doctrine have the potential to weaken deterrence and destabilize the cross strait military balance At this critical juncture there is no question that this issue requires sustained detailed analysis and that many measures can and should be taken to reduce the threat of conflict between China Taiwan and the United States Assessing the threat offers such analysis as well as concrete suggestions and crisis management practices for government and military leaders in Washington D C Beijing and Taipei

Current and Future Worldwide Threats to the National Security of the United States United States. Congress. Senate. Committee on Armed Services, 2005 Perspectives on Sino-American Strategic Nuclear Issues Christopher P.

Twomey, 2008-06-15 Sino American nuclear relations are critical given ongoing modernization efforts on both sides and an increasingly complex regional and global nuclear environment This volume pairs Chinese and American authors together to offer national perspectives on contemporary nuclear issues including perceptions of strategic context national security priorities doctrines perceptions of regional threats and strategies to address these dangers China's Modernizing Military Kenneth S. Fu, 2001 Does China have the military capability to threaten Taiwan What are China's intentions with its newly modernizing military How much of a threat does that pose to the United States The assumption generally is that the United States will intervene in some form in the event that China attacked Taiwan But what if the U S does not intervene and Taiwan does not succumb to threats alone Can China back up its threats and succeed in an invasion of Taiwan using only its conventional forces How successful has the PLA modernization drive been so far and what promise does it hold in the next few years to achieve the objective of taking Taiwan back by force The purpose of this thesis is to measure the results of China's military modernization efforts and determine if the PLA has the capability to defeat Taiwan in a conventional war and succeed in an invasion of the island Abstract from web site The Costs of Conflict Andrew Scobell, 2001 It is increasingly important for Americans to think carefully about the vast complexities of the U S China relationship and the calculations that go into forming courses of action The key question is will China s so called first priority of economic development and its resulting influence on domestic social stability curtail China s continuing reliance on military force as a means of exerting its influence In addition will economic development enhance China s comprehensive national power and thus contribute to some of China s more unhealthy goals such as dominating the South China Seas seizing Taiwan by force or grabbing the Senkaku Islands from Japan Is the China Taiwan economic dynamic strong enough to offset military adventurism How this dilemma is managed by the United States China and Taiwan will affect the future of Asia and perhaps the world We have tried to present in this book factual and analytical essays which stress the need for squarely addressing these questions Strategic Forum ,1994 Defence Planning and Uncertainty Stephan Frühling,2014-04-24 How can countries decide what kind of military forces they need if threats are uncertain and history is full of strategic surprises This is a question that is more pertinent than ever as countries across the Asia Pacific are faced with the military and economic rise of China Uncertainty is inherent in defence planning but different types of uncertainty mean that countries need to approach decisions about military force structure in different ways This book examines four different basic frameworks for defence planning and demonstrates how states can make decisions coherently about the structure and posture of their defence forces despite strategic uncertainty It draws on case studies from the United States Australian and New Zealand each of which developed key concepts for their particular circumstances and risk perception in Asia Success as well as failure in developing coherent defence planning frameworks holds lessons for the United States and other countries as they consider how best to structure their military forces for the uncertain challenges of the future The Chinese Armed Forces in the 21st Century Larry M.
