Co-Design of Rehabilitation Programming Janelle Unger,James Middleton, John Bourke,Dalton L. Wolfe,2025-01-14 Co Design is an approach used in healthcare that integrates patient and care partner experiences into service and program development and delivery Co design involves both users and healthcare professionals or researchers working together to identify opportunities for improvement set goals evaluate progress and outcomes and reflect on processes Implementing a co design process improves person centered care and results in positive outcomes for both patients and staff Research in this area has increased significantly over the previous 15 years however much of this work has been focused on primary care It is important to focus on the use of co design in rehabilitation settings specifically due to the unique goals of these programs The goal of this Research Topic is to highlight the use of co design in rehabilitation programming and to value the knowledge and experience of those with lived experience who use rehabilitation services The insights gained will provide a foundation for future rehabilitation program development The Massachusetts register ,2010 Work Less Jon Peirce,2024-01-02 You can t have a healthy economy with an unhealthy work force Work Less proposes ways to reduce work hours and keep workers happier healthier and more productive Recent years have revealed just how stressed out many workers are While the trend to longer hours has been developing for several decades the trend s effects have been aggravated during the pandemic by the growing use of Zoom and other new technologies for meetings with clients customers and co workers Exhausted and fed up today s workers are starting to insist on shorter hours and greater flexibility as to where they do their work There is growing consensus that the forty hour week the norm since the 1940s has outlived its usefulness And there is an urgent need for new work schedules that adequately reflect the far greater intensity of work today as well as the greater family demands on a labour force made up of almost fifty percent women who bear the brunt of domestic duties Work Less
