

Chapter 7 Solutions

Questions

1. What is the difference between capital budgeting decisions covered in this chapter and management decisions covered in Chapter 6 "How Are Relevant Revenues and Costs Used to Make Decisions?"?

Capital budgeting decisions covered in this chapter involve using company funds to invest in long-term assets such as production facilities and equipment. These decisions typically involve projects that affect cash flows of the company for many years. The long-term nature of capital budgeting decisions requires managers to consider the time value of money in evaluating long-term investments.

Management decisions covered in Chapter 6 involve short-run operating decisions that typically have a minimal impact on cash flows of the company in future years.

2. What concept must be considered when looking at cash flows over several years for a long-term investment? Explain.

The present value concept must be considered when evaluating cash flows of a long-term investment. This concept is based on the premise that a dollar received today is worth more than a dollar received in the future. Thus, future cash flows must be restated in today's dollars, that is, in a present value equivalent.

3. What is meant by the term present value?

The term present value describes the value of future cash flows in today's dollars. For example, suppose $100 is received today and $100 will be received five years from today. Although $200 is received in total, the $100 received today is worth more than the $100 received in the future. We can find the present value of the $100 received in five years to find the value of this cash flow in today's dollars. Assuming a rate of 10 percent, the present value of the $100 received in five years is $62 (= $100 received in five years x .6209 factor from Table A.1 in the appendix).

4. Describe the three steps required to evaluate investments using the net present value method.
