Masys, 2021-06-22 Over the past decade the international political system has come to be characterized as a Great Power Competition in which multiple would be hegemons compete for power and influence Instead of a global climate of unchallenged United States dominance revisionist powers notably China and Russia alongside other regional powers are vying for dominance through political military and economic means A critical battleground in the Great Power Competition is the Middle East the Horn of Africa and the Central Asia South Asia CASA also known as the Central Region With the planned withdrawal of U S military forces from Afghanistan the U S has stated its intention of shifting attention away from the CASA Region in favor of a more isolationist foreign policy approach This book provides an in depth understanding of the implications for this shift related to regional diplomacy politics economic opportunities rivalries security considerations interests and the information environment Amplifying the vital importance of success in the Central Region to U S prosperity and security this volume advances dialogue in identifying key issues for stakeholders within and beyond the Central Region to gain a holistic perspective that better informs decision making at various levels This collection of work comes from scholars strategic thinkers and subject matter experts who participated in the Great Power Competition Conference hosted by the University of South Florida in partnership with the National Defense University Near East South Asia Center for Strategic Strategies in January 2020 China's Grand Strategy Sarwar A.

Kashmeri, In the Great Game of the 21st century gaining leadership and influence in Asia the United States is rapidly being outflanked by China which is investing in infrastructure connectivity and supply chains on an unprecedented global scale In this first book to use China's Belt and Road Initiative previously known as China's New Silk Road as a point of departure to explain why and how China is about to supersede America with regard to influence in Asia Sarwar Kashmeri argues that the United States has a narrow window of opportunity to find a way to fit into a world in which the rules of the game are increasingly set by China U S opposition to the Belt and Road Initiative is doomed to failure so America must find creative ways to engage China strategically and he warns that the window to do so is closing fast The Belt and Road Initiative is China's ambitious project to connect itself to more than 70 countries in Central Asia Europe Africa and the Middle East through new roads rails ports sea lanes and air links This cornerstone of Chinese foreign policy under President Xi Jinping is positioning China at the center of over half of world trade and the loss of American influence and power could well lead to the end of the postwar liberal world order Far more than merely an infrastructure investment the Belt and Road Initiative is a masterful grand strategy to create nothing less than a new world order based on the Chinese model of government and its financial institutions Yet as the passing of the baton of world leadership takes place the United States seems curiously incapable or uninterested in devising a counterstrategy Even though the United States will no longer have the largest economy in the world it will still be a powerful and rich country with global alliances

India and Central Asia in the Post-Cold War Era Saroj Kumar Aryal, 2024-11-29 This book analyses the evolution of India's foreign policy towards Central Asia after the end of the Cold War Focusing on the development of India's foreign policy towards Central Asia between 1991 and 2020 this book investigates the explanatory and intervening variables of the policy towards the region to identify its goals assumptions motivations and instruments The preliminary assumption is that India's foreign policy towards Central Asia has evolved after the Cold War from a passive approach to an active participant in Central Asian security economic and socio cultural spheres This is also seen due to the emergence of the five Central Asian countries as independent states which have a tremendous strategic significance due to their geographical location huge hydrocarbon reserve and potential economic opportunities India expanded its policy to the Extended Neighbourhood adding East Central and West Asia to the existing South Asian neighbourhood Since then India has been engaging with the region considering the growing geostrategic and geo economic significance of the region and using the available foreign policy instruments This book presents a comprehensive assessment of India's foreign policy behaviour evolution with proper analysis of the explanatory external and intervening internal variables that influence India's behaviours towards the region It shows that India also aims to be a very influential power in Central Asia This book will be an excellent resource for students and researchers of area and global studies international relations Asian Politics and South and Central Asia The Open Access version of this book available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No
